'Ghostly' Cavalry Is Followed To West Point

By GLENN WAIGHT

The pounding hoofbeats of cavalry columns echoed in the imaginations of some 300 history fans who followed the 1863 route of Confederate Gen. John H. Morgan's raiders Sunday from Bergholz to the surrender site near West Point.

A 100-car caravan — plus a bus, sound truck and police escorts—retraced the trail of the Rebels whose bold dash into the heart of the North was halted by Union horsemen posted across the West Point-Gavers Rd. just 96 years ago yesterday.

AMONG THE thrills for Civil War enthusiasts during the afternoon was the almost forgotten sound of fifes and drums, playing "Dixie" at the graves of two of Morgan's men at the West Grove Cemetery near where they were killed in a sharp skirmish.

The 12 members of the Sons of Veterans Fife and Drum Corps of Mount Vernon, were directed by Col. Warfield Dorsey, attending as a personal representative of Gen. U. S. Grant III, chairman of the Civil War Centennial Commission.

John W. Cullen of Cleveland, chairman of the Civil War Roundtable and another representative of the centennial commission, spoke at some of the six stops made by the caravan, which wound through dusty roads in Jefferson, Carroll and Columbiana Counties — a 29-mile tour lasting 3 hours.

PLEASANT WEATHER, a rising interest in the Civil War and the colorful appeal of the Morgan saga brought a surprising turnout for the tour.

Historical groups attended from Salem, East Palestine, Lisbon, Jefferson County, Trumbull County and elsewhere, besides the Wellsville and East Liverpool units. The Columbiana delegation traveled in a bus.

Three representatives of the Filson Historical Society of Louisville, Ky., attended and William Dennis, one of the members speaking at the West Grove Cemetery, said, "I feel a little scared—the only Kentuckian standing here in front of all you Northerners. . ."

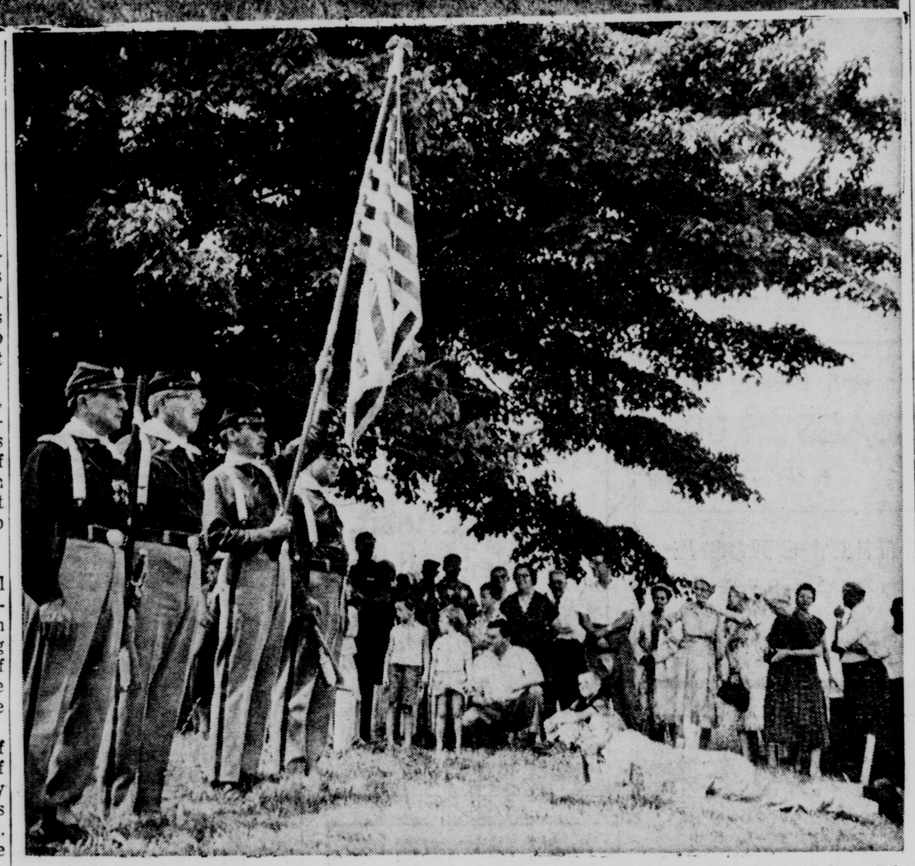

The tour was directed by Ed Pugh of Wellsville, president of the Columbiana County Historical Association, who was master of ceremonies and related the history of the raid with local color at the six stops.

A PUBLIC address system and station wagon provided by the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce, permitted the large, scattered crowd to hear the talks and ceremonies.

Castro Warns U.S., Others As He Takes Premier Post Again

Crowd Backs 'Strong Man' Role In Cuba

Fidel Keeps Away From Communism In Talk To Throng

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro, swept back into the Cuban premiership as expected, by an enormous popular demonstration, served notice Sunday night he will be friends with the United States only if the United States does not get in his way.

The spectacular crowd estimated at nearly a million cheered wildly as he told them he would bow to "the will of the people" and resume office. The demonstration again underscored that the bearded, 32-year-old revolutionary leader is Cuba's strong man.

He asserted that Cuba is not a protectorate or colony of any other country but a free sovereign nation and "we have to account to no one."

Castro said Cuba wants to be friends with all nations but can not be with those "who offend us, who insult us and who exploit us" nor with any vested interest which tries to "impose itself on the destiny of our people."

But in 2½ hours of talk, Castro failed to mention communism by name at all. He referred to it only obliquely, when hitting at his critics, but apparently did not feel it necessary to deny their charges that he is letting the Reds influence his government.

Uptown Havana's vast Civic Plaza was packed with the shouting, cheering throng. Castro told it emotionally that from now on the "symbol of our revolution will be the machete," the long, sharp knife used for cutting sugar cane.

The announcement provoked furious response during which some 400,000 campesinos — farmers— brought from the provinces to swell the demonstration clashed their machetes in unison to add to the general uproar.

Castro made it clear that such mammoth demonstrations will be held whenever it is considered necessary to demonstrate popular support for his policies. That of Sunday, officially celebrating the anniversary of his 26th of July revolutionary movement, was called originally to demonstrate support for his land redistribution program.

Castro claimed it was only the will of the people that persuaded him to resume the premiership he left nine days ago to force the resignation of provisional President Manuel Urrutia.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED. A $1 contribution to the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council was placed in the "Well of Hope" on E. 5th St. this morning by Dan Kelley, executive board member, to mark the start of the two-week drive for $20,000. Looking on are, left to right, Mrs. Harry Steinmetz of the council, Vicki Baumgarner, 9, of Richardson Ave., and Richard Emmerling, treasurer of the executive council. Funds will be used for operation of two special classes and other expanded facilities planned by the council.

Greeted By 1,000 At Airport

Nixon Flies To Leningrad In Swing Through Russia

LENINGRAD (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew to Leningrad today to begin a five-day swing through parts of the Soviet Union.

Soviet Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov and his wife were among those accompanying Nixon and his wife. Also along was Georgi Zhukov, chairman of the Soviet Government Committee on Foreign Cultural Relations.

Flying ahead were two planes carrying 88 American and foreign newsmen.

Nixon's departure from the Soviet capital was preceded by a weekend visit with Soviet Premier Khrushchev during which they discussed East-West differences for six hours.

Neither side would say whether the marathon talk had boosted chances for removal of the Soviet threat to Allied forces in West Berlin. But Nixon said the long exchange was helpful "because it provided an opportunity for frank and complete discussions in a calm and objective atmosphere."

A crowd of 1,000 greeted the vice president and his party at the Leningrad airport. It was nearly three times the number who turned out for their arrival in Moscow last Thursday.

Two American tourists joined the airport and held up a hastily scribbled "Welcome Nixon" sign. The vice president was delighted.

Although there was no loudspeaker system, Nixon said in a brief arrival speech he and Krushchev had a "constructive and full discussion of the many problems that we have between our two countries."

"I can say that we had some difference with Chairman Khrushchev at the points at issue. I would say it was not a case of his convincing me or me convincing him."

Nixon went on to tell the crowd, made up mostly of young men and women, and with some sailors in uniform:

"The differences between nations in today's world must be settled at the conference table and not on the battlefield. "My message to the people of Leningrad, to the American people is this—peace."

Nixon used the Russian word for peace.

Most of the crowd remained silent, perhaps because they could not hear the vice president.

The Nixons paid an overnight visit to the Khrushchevs big cream-colored country home, or dacha, in a wooded park about 20 miles outside Moscow. Nixon returned to the U.S. Embassy residence Sunday night and drafted a detailed report on the conversation for President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press aide, hinted the talk did little to solve any of the major differences dividing the united states and the Soviet Union.

The meeting, sixth between Khrushchev and Nixon since the vice president arrived last Thursday, may be their last.

The two leaders talked during a long Sunday dinner on a grassy, tree-shaded knoll overlooking the Moscow River. First Deputy Premiers Anastas I. Mikoyan and Kozlov and their wives, and U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and President Eisenhower's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, also were at the table.

The two leaders agreed that their rough and tumble debate at the American Exposition Friday had not offended either.

The exchange, they said, was hard hitting and frank — but not belligerent. Turning to Nixon, Khrushchev asked,"Were you offended?"

"Never," replied Nixon. "Mr. Khrushchev and I have some real and honest differences but we are alike in this respect: we both came from humble families and both have a practice of speaking directly and not beating around the bush."

"I agree," Khrushchev said.

Damages Run High In Wake Of Hurricane

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Communities in the water and debris-strewn wake of Hurricane Debra surveyed today millions of dollars in damages left by the wind, rain and inconvenience of the tropical storm.

Debra's path extended all the way from the Gulf coast chemical and fishing center of Freeport, Tex., into southeastern Oklahoma.

She left behind smashed fishing and pleasure boats, flattened and washed out crops, shattered roofs and windows, felled trees and snarled trafic.

Industrial areas, which expected to catch some of the heaviest damage, escaped destruction.

The hardest blows from the storm which burst with only a few hours warning from the ocean were delivered instead to fleets of boats along the Gulf.

Small boats were swamped, shrimpers were slammed against pilings and other boats and pleasure craft were washed ashore or banged against docks and boathouses by high and vicious tides.

Freeport apparently suffered the heaviest damage. Mayor Jim Russell said it will total 1¼ to 1½ million dollars.

The police chief at Lamarque said damage at that Gulf coast town will total one million dollars.

Notice all members of Local Union 9. There will be a special meeting Tues. July 28th at 7:30 p. m. in room 3, IBOP Bldg. All members urged to attend. By order of Pres. — Ad.

City Has 5 Accidents

2 Glenmoor Women Hurt In Station Wagon's Plunge

Two Glenmoor women were injured late Sunday afternoon when their station wagon plunged over an embankment on Dresden Ave. just inside the city limits.

Mrs. Julia Kozel, 40, driver, and Mrs. Frances Hood, 63, both of Lisbon St. Ext., were treated at City Hospital for injuries received in the mishap at 4:38 p. m.

Mrs. Kozel suffered a laceration of the forehead and Mrs. Hood received lacerations and contusions of the leg, nose and upper lip.

Mrs. Kozel told officers she was headed south about 20 miles an hour when she lost control. The brakes then failed to work and the vehicle went over the embankment, Mrs. Kozel said.

Four other accidents also were reported Sunday, police said.

William E. Smith, 64, of 1618 Commerce St., Wellsville, forfeited a $16 bond today in Municipal Court for failing to yield the right-of-way after his car struck one operated by Richard J. McKenzie, 20, of 333 W. 7th St. about 5 p. m. yesterday at W. 7th St. and Persimmon Alley.

Smith said he was making a right turn from Jefferson St. onto W. 7th St. and saw McKenzie pulling from the curb but his foot slipped from the pedal.

A car operated by Kathe Kollmayer, 38, of 782 Woodlawn Ave., struck a utility pole Sunday night on Woodlawn Ave. when her hands slipped from the steering wheel, she told officers.

Cars operated by Harold C. Derenburger, 35, of 937 Denver St. and Bernard D. Allison, 26, of 225 W. 7th St. were involved in a collision at 9 p. m. at E. 3rd St. and Short Alley.

Allison said he stopped for a traffic light and then started to back up to let an unidentified driver out of Short Alley and struck the Derenburger car, halted to make a turn into a service station.

Robert C. Werner, 52, of LaCroft reported to police today his car was involved in a collision Sunday

'Prospects' Try Out Cars In Showroom

Although not classified as a traffic accident, two 1959 model cars were damaged extensively in a freak crash in an auto showroom, police were told Saturday night.

Carroll Motor Sales said 2 boys between 12 and 14 entered the showroom while a salesman was outside with another customer and started the engines of the new Fords.

One boy backed his car, a four-door sedan, into the other model, a two-door, causing considerable damage to both vehicles, the company said.

It furnished a description of the two youths to police.

Talks Reopen In Bid To End Steel Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — The first joint peace talks between industry and union since the start of the nationwide steel strike open here today under the auspices of federal mediators.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reiterated his warning that no early or easy settlement of the 13-day-old strike appears likely.

Finnegan, who arranged the joint talks last week, said on his arrival from Washington Sunday night: "They can't settle this strike by not talking."

Heading the negotiating teams for today's talks are David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp.

The strike of 500,000 members of the United Steelworkers has shut down plants that produced almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel. The stoppage has idled an estimated 78,000 employes in other industries, with railroads the hardest hit.

The union's demands include a 15-cent-an-hour package increase in each year of a new contract, plus fringe benefits. The industry, rejecting the demands, contends that an increase in labor costs would force a rise in steel prices and thus help spur inflation. The union contends that industry profits and increased productivity make a wage rise possible without a price increase. Prestrike wages averaged $3.10 an hour.

Purse Snatchers Get $5 In Strong-Arming

An East End woman told police her purse containing $5 was stolen by two thugs who strong-armed her while she was walking late Saturday night on Dewey Ave.

Charlotte Bennett of Dewey Ave. Ext. said she first heard someone running.

One of the thugs grabbed her and began choking her but both fled when she screamed, the woman said.

They took her purse containing her wallet and the cash.

Salem Has 3 Entries For School Board Race

Three candidates for the Salem Board of Education and two for township posts filed petitions for the Nov. 3 general election today with the County Election Board.

The school board candidates include Orein A. Naragon, vice president, who is asking another four-year term, and Gail C. Herron and Bryce W. Kendall.

Clifford F. Shaw filed for trustee of Center Township and Marion T. Beitler will seek election as clerk of Butler Township.

U.S., France Holding Firm Against 'Easing' Of Terms

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and France were reported holding firm today against British pressure to cut down Western terms for a Berlin agreement with the Soviet Union and clear the way for an early summit conference.

As the Big Four foreign ministers' conference moved into its ninth week, U.S. and British officials sought to play down the difference and deny any threat to allied unity.

Some privately conceded, however, that the maneuvering has created an appearance of weakness under Soviet hammering on critical Berlin and German issues.

Associates said Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is still determined to try to get an agreement from the Soviets Andrei A. Gromyko to protect West Berlin. He is reported equally determined not to accept any deal which will put a deadline on Allied rights there.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, who conferred with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan over the weekend, reportedly believes that limited assurances already offered by Gromyko are the best the West can hope for and should be accepted conditionally.

The condition, British informants said, is that the U.S.S.R. for the time being drop its demand for agreement on direct unification negotiations between the West German and Communist East German governments. All three Western powers were reported

Kaycees At Wellsville Launch Plans For St. Rocco Festival

Plans for a parade, carnival and large fireworks display in celebration of St. Rocco Week in Wellsville Aug. 16-23 were outlined at a meeting of the festival committee of the Knights of Columbus Council 507 Sunday.

The annual festival honors the memory of St. Rocco, patron saint of the Italian people, and will begin Aug. 16 with a Solemn High Mass at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at 11 a. m. with Fr. John Lyons, pastor, as celebrant.

A carnival will be held nightly at the lot at Central Park, with the K. of C. operating concession stands and the P. & J. Amusement Co. of Massillon providing seven rides. A matinee is planned Aug. 22.

A new fireworks display is also slated by the Fazzoni Brothers Co. of New Castle for Aug. 22 when a parade will be held through the town, starting at Central Park.

The St. Margaret's Society Band of Mahoningtown, Pa., will play a concert Aug. 22 at 8 p. m. at the park and another Aug. 23 from 4 to 7 p. m. Ralph Gaspari is director.

An old-fashioned Mora finger guessing game will be held Aug. 23 among Sons of Italy lodges in the area.

Fred Baldasarre is general chairman, assisted by George Prokop, James Ross, Sam Amato, Ernest McCarty and Anthony Cataldo. The next meeting of the committee will be Aug. 4.

Bishop To Preside At Church Series

The Rev. W. S. Kendall, newly elected bishop, will be the presiding bishop at the annual sessions of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church Tuesday through Friday.

The meeting begins tomorrow at 10 a. m. and he will also conduct the closing services Friday night.

Dr. W. J. Stonehouse, former missionary secretary of the Canadian Holiness Movement, will speak Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

The ministers and delegates were beginning to arrive today at the campgrounds.

New Rubbish Truck Arrives At Midland

Midland's new $9,398 rubbish truck was delivered to the borough today, Tony Monac of the Midland Auto Sales said.

The chassis will be inspected today by the Midland firm. The Ateco Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh, suppliers of the body, will give a demonstration of the truck Tuesday at 10 a. m., R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, said.

The truck is all white with black lettering, Steebner said. Contracts for the truck were awarded at the meeting May 27 of Council.

Chester Women Given Posts In State Groups

Mrs. Thelma Merriman of Montana Ave., Chester, was elected first vice president of the West Virginia 8 & 40 Society, and Mrs. Twyla Finley of 6th St., Chester, was re-elected historian of the West Virginia American Legion auxiliary at their conventions last week at Parkersburg.

Mrs. Merriman is past president of the Hancock County 8 & 40 Society, and is vice president of the auxiliary of American Legion Post 121. Mrs. Finley, past president of the county 8 & 40 and the Post 121 auxiliary, was also chosen an alternate delegate to the national 8 & 40 convention at Minnesota this fall.

Berlin

agreed that this price demanded by Gromyko for a stopgap Berlin settlement is completely unacceptable.

Lloyd took the lead today in sounding out Gromyko on the possibility of a change in the Soviet position. He arranged a luncheon meeting with him to be followed by a meeting of the Western Big Three and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Lloyd and Macmillan believe a summit meeting sooner or later is inevitable. They would like to get it on the basis of some agreement on Berlin here even though that falls short of what the West is asking.

Herter and President Eisenhower feel it is vital to stand absolutely firm in the face of Soviet threats even if there is no summit meeting. They believe the minimum the United States can accept is a Soviet pledge — with no time limit on it — not to take any action to interfere with Western occupation rights in West Berlin. The French view is said to coincide with the American.

Children Will Select Events At Playgrounds

"Free night" will be observed Tuesday by the children of the Recreation Council's 14 district playlots in East Liverpool, Chester and Newell, Merrill Hall, playground supervisor, said today.

The supervisors will let the youngsters decide on their diversion.

A hike will be featured Aug. 4, races and display of handcraft work Aug. 11 and a picnic as the final event of the season Aug. 18. The place will be announced later. The playlots will close Aug. 21.

Man Killed. One Hurt In Crash On Turnpike

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—An eastbound truck rammed the rear of another on the Ohio Turnpike today, killing one man and seriously injuring another.

The Turnpike Patrol identified the dead man as Gary F. Reinert of Chicago.

Reinert, a passenger in a truck driven by Milo F. Lloyd, 42, of Plano, Ill., was trapped in the crushed cab of the truck for two hours. Lloyd suffered multiple injuries and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The second truck driver, Peter Weber, 51, of Lincoln Park, Mich., was not injured.

Get $56,000 At Bank

LONDON (AP)—A burglar gang spearheaded by a child or midget made off with 20,000 pounds ($56,000) in a weekend raid on an east London bank. Police said the robbers got into the bank by pushing a tiny member of the gang between the bars protecting a lavatory window. The tiny one let the mob in through the front door.

Plane Flies On Its Own

Kaycees At Wellsville Launch Plans For St. Rocco Festival

Plans for a parade, carnival and large fireworks display in celebration of St. Rocco Week in Wellsville Aug. 16-23 were outlined at a meeting of the festival committee of the Knights of Columbus Council 507 Sunday.

The annual festival honors the memory of St. Rocco, patron saint of the Italian people, and will begin Aug. 16 with a Solemn High Mass at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at 11 a. m. with Fr. John Lyons, pastor, as celebrant.

A carnival will be held nightly at the lot at Central Park, with the K. of C. operating concession stands and the P. & J. Amusement Co. of Massillon providing seven rides. A matinee is planned Aug. 22.

A new fireworks display is also slated by the Fazzoni Brothers Co. of New Castle for Aug. 22 when a parade will be held through the town, starting at Central Park.

The St. Margaret's Society Band of Mahoningtown, Pa., will play a concert Aug. 22 at 8 p. m. at the park and another Aug. 23 from 4 to 7 p. m. Ralph Gaspari is director.

An old-fashioned Mora finger guessing game will be held Aug. 23 among Sons of Italy lodges in the area.

Fred Baldasarre is general chairman, assisted by George Prokop, James Ross, Sam Amato, Ernest McCarty and Anthony Cataldo. The next meeting of the committee will be Aug. 4.

Bishop To Preside At Church Series

The Rev. W. S. Kendall, newly elected bishop, will be the presiding bishop at the annual sessions of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist Church Tuesday through Friday.

The meeting begins tomorrow at 10 a. m. and he will also conduct the closing services Friday night.

Dr. W. J. Stonehouse, former missionary secretary of the Canadian Holiness Movement, will speak Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

The ministers and delegates were beginning to arrive today at the campgrounds.

New Rubbish Truck Arrives At Midland

Midland's new $9,398 rubbish truck was delivered to the borough today, Tony Monac of the Midland Auto Sales said.

The chassis will be inspected today by the Midland firm. The Ateco Equipment Co. of Pittsburgh, suppliers of the body, will give a demonstration of the truck Tuesday at 10 a. m., R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, said.

The truck is all white with black lettering, Steebner said. Contracts for the truck were awarded at the meeting May 27 of Council.

agreed that this price demanded by Gromyko for a stopgap Berlin settlement is completely unacceptable.

Lloyd took the lead today in sounding out Gromyko on the possibility of a change in the Soviet position. He arranged a luncheon meeting with him to be followed by a meeting of the Western Big Three and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Lloyd and Macmillan believe a summit meeting sooner or later is inevitable. They would like to get it on the basis of some agreement on Berlin here even though that falls short of what the West is asking.

Herter and President Eisenhower feel it is vital to stand absolutely firm in the face of Soviet threats even if there is no summit meeting. They believe the minimum the United States can accept is a Soviet pledge — with no time limit on it — not to take any action to interfere with Western occupation rights in West Berlin. The French view is said to coincide with the American.

Children Will Select Events At Playgrounds

"Free night" will be observed Tuesday by the children of the Recreation Council's 14 district playlots in East Liverpool, Chester and Newell, Merrill Hall, playground supervisor, said today.

The supervisors will let the youngsters decide on their diversion.

A hike will be featured Aug. 4, races and display of handcraft work Aug. 11 and a picnic as the final event of the season Aug. 18. The place will be announced later. The playlots will close Aug. 21.

Man Killed. One Hurt In Crash On Turnpike

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—An eastbound truck rammed the rear of another on the Ohio Turnpike today, killing one man and seriously injuring another.

The Turnpike Patrol identified the dead man as Gary F. Reinert of Chicago.

Reinert, a passenger in a truck driven by Milo F. Lloyd, 42, of Plano, Ill., was trapped in the crushed cab of the truck for two hours. Lloyd suffered multiple injuries and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The second truck driver, Peter Weber, 51, of Lincoln Park, Mich., was not injured.

Get $56,000 At Bank

LONDON (AP)—A burglar gang spearheaded by a child or midget made off with 20,000 pounds ($56,000) in a weekend raid on an east London bank. Police said the robbers got into the bank by pushing a tiny member of the gang between the bars protecting a lavatory window. The tiny one let the mob in through the front door.

'A Better Model' Is Asked

It has become the habit of many adults to take frequent pot shots at the teen-agers. Often the criticisms appear to be justified, other times not.

Regardless, many adults leave themselves open for attack in turn because of the poor examples they set for the youngsters.

One of the younger residents of the community takes them to task on that basis in a letter which came to this desk recently. It was unsigned and for that reason has not been used in the customary "Letter To The Editor" column.

A re-reading, however, did serve to bring out some points worth passing along in the hope that they reach the ears of any adults who may fall into the various categories. Some of the letter-writer's observations follow:

"We are at long last beginning to realize the cause of most of young people's troubles can be traced back to their parents or home shortcomings. I like the verse in the Bible which tells about letting the person without guilt cast the first stone..."

"If everyone spent more time keeping themselves more righteous, we wouldn't have time to figure out what is wrong with others. Interest and constructive criticism are so much more helpful than just idle curiosity..."

"How can we tell our youth not to smoke when most parents do..."

"People serve liquor at the table with meals, keep it on hand, offer it often to the very young. Many children don't know that there is supposed to be any difference between it and soft drinks..."

"Do people think that when they give birth to a child that is all they have to do to be a parent? From then on do they think the responsibility belongs to someone else? "

"God gave us the Ten Commandments to live by. They are perfect and cover everything we come up against in our lives. If everyone in all the world followed them all it would be a perfect world without sin..."

"I've often heard that if a couple worked as hard to keep a marriage together as the work they go through getting out of one more marriages would last..."

"Some parents are so busy having a good time (they think) they want some one else to have the responsibility of their children. Others work so hard supplying material things for the home that the family grows up and is gone before they have taken time to enjoy them..."

"Children learn from the beginning by imitating. Please, let's give them a better model..."

The Master Of Contradiction

It undoubtedly is a source of enormous gratification to Nikita Khrushchev to know that by mere word or action he has the power to hang the world on the tenterhooks of confusion.

He took full advantage of this power on his recent 10-day tour of Poland. This is attested by cancellation of his tour of the Scandinavian countries scheduled for August — an action which caught the world by surprise and has created another great babble of conjecture to top all conjecture over the trail of confusion he has blazed in Poland.

Gallivanting about that enslaved country he took time out from day to day to offer a solemn pledge that the Russians never would launch a war against anybody at any time. Another day he threatened to bury us or warned that we must get out of Berlin by such and such a date. At still another time he rattled the nuclear bombs in his arsenal.

These diatribes had all been tested before and found effective, but then Khrushchev came up with a new angle. Without forewarning his scheduled trip to Scandinavia, which was to have been a sequel to the Polish tour, was called off.

The reason given was that the cancellation was due to anti-Russian criticism in the press and among political leaders in the Scandinavian countries.

While the snub has all the outward signs of a childish pique, Mr. K. is seldom childish in his actions and a great search is underway for some underlying reason for his refusal to visit Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Finland next month.

The answer to the latest riddle, as to so many others propounded by Soviet policy, would seem locked for the present in the dark recesses of the Kremlin.

It is conceivable that Khrushchev has no desire to risk hostile Scandinavian demonstrations after a reasonably successful Polish tour. After all the Soviet Premier is enjoying the world spotlight in his role as master of contradiction and would prefer to have that spotlight fall on cheering throngs rather than the jeering ones.

One lesson that can be drawn from the withdrawal of Khrushchev from the Nordic scene is that he can be a very unpredictable guest—a fact that the United States might well bear in mind. He is quite likely to leave his host with the dinner cooling on the table while he gloats at home over the confusion he has the power to create.

Of Speed And Power

By Frank Tripp

What man hasn't modernized and spoiled remains the same along old Seneca, as I knew it when a boy. Nature will not be subdued; nor wipe golden days from memory.

It does worse; takes away the pioneers who were the link between the many generations who have inhabited the romantic Finger Lakes; my boyhood playground, our half-year home.

The Senecas, the strongest and largest tribe of the Iroquois Indians and their sage chief, Red Jacket, are the first recorded masters of the most majestic, deepest lake within New York State's borders.

Every year that we go back, the old lake reflects its mystery to a newer set of people who know it less and respect it little; yet its autocracy and pranks have never changed. And when it is ready it lashes forth its anger.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION on the highways has extended to waterways miles in width. The Indans' birch bark canoes are replaced by high-powered outboards piloted by mere children who will not legally drive a car for five more years.

Parents turn them loose with the most powerful craft they can afford—and trust to good fortune that they'll get back alive and kill nobody.

From where I write, the vista provides a thrill an hour in the busy vacation season. Smart young alecks chasing each other over 500 feet of water, making turns no boat was meant to negotiate; missing each other by feet, often inches. Fun?

People resent laws and restrictions which their own stupidity make necessary. Now there will be, and needed, driving licenses for small craft operation and strict penalties for violating the common sense rules of navigation; so simple that they basically only mean keeping out of each other's way.

THE CURSE that has made the automobile a lethal weapon has hit the boating industry, and is turning once safe spots for children into crossroads of death and danger. Power and speed. For why?

The joy of a boat once was the comfort of it. With no place to go and nothing to do when they get there, today's young speed demons are ruining a relaxation for others; endangering lives and turning quiet coves into noisy raceways.

The old primers taught: "Walking and rowing are the best exercise." Find a kid today who will do either. They hitch hike to school, or go by public bus. They would sit on the shore all day rather than row a boat. Parents abet it.

The legs and the backs they neglect will fail them years too early; weak hearts and pithy lungs already take tolls in record numbers. Indulgent papas and mamas—not the kids—are the reason.

Speed and leisure are their gods; grief the Harvest!

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

THIS IS THE SEASON when everybody goes for a rest and returns to work in genuine need of it. Modern life has taken all relaxation out of vacation. Grandpa got more rest out of a hammock 25 feet from the house than a man gets today on a 500-mile journey to some spot recommended by a neighbor promoting nervous breakdowns. Preparations wear a man out. The Missus becomes a wreck before she is halfway through the vacation literature.

Vacations have now become an ordeal by super-planning, intensive map reading, wrong roads, detours and signs reading "Roads Under Repair." Not to mention gasoline wars, ptomaine poisoning, ants in the hamburgers and family arguments over who had the can opener last.

You go from a cool, comfortable home to a clammy shack, where you can be guaranteed discomfort wholesale and with no discount for personal fortitude.

If you take a cottage, it's life among the depleted sets of dishes, prehistoric gas ranges, damp carpets and beds which the Green Mountain Boys slept in.

You get the thrill that comes with making a bad mistake the three whole weeks and go for broke paying for a cock-eyed idea of comfort.

Every summer sees wider and faster highways to take you from home to the mountains and beaches but you travel so fast you can't see the scenery or identify the towns.

The happiest guy we know stayed in the city and sent the wife and kids to the country. At least he didn't hear the constant cry of "Are you sure you took the right turn?" and "I think we should stop and go back. Mommer must have fallen out on that last curve."

MOSCOW SPEAKS

Come live with me in amity
And always in tranquility;
(You merely have to bow and dip
Your colors when I crack the whip.)
II
The deepest friendship we must know,
Our faces full of love" sweet glow;
The peaceful tie is simple, quite. . . .
IF YOU ADMIT I'M ALWAYS RIGHT!

The largest "dangerous" American snake is the eastern diamondback, which is also the longest of the rattlesnakes and one of the heaviest venomous snakes in the world. Adults are commonly five feet long, with the record of seven feet three inches. The smallest dangerous American snake is the Arizona coral snake, which is not known to reach a length of appreciably more than 19 inches.

The largest antelope in the world is the African eland. In size, it is equal to a full-grown horse, and weighs a thousand pounds or more.

Keep An Eye On That Transom

Khrushchev Contributes To Own Defeat

By David Lawrence

Nikita Khrushchev has unwittingly contributed to his own spectacular defeat in the court of public opinion throughout the world. The resolution passed by Congress and the President's proclamation in answer thereto, designating the third week in July as "Captive Nations Week," might have gotten scant attention but, thanks to the Soviet Premier, the proclamation now has been publicized everywhere. He has denounced it and has thereby opened up a debate as to whether the satellite nations are "captives" and "enslaved."

David Lawrence

The Soviet autocrat says that only the "capitalist" countries are "enslaved" but he ignores the fact that free elections are not held anywhere behind the Iron Curtain and that only governmental rulers handpicked by the Kremlin are in office, while the dissenters are dead or in jail.

Small wonder the resolution, which passed by overwhelming vote of both parties in the Senate and House earlier this month, got under Khrushchev's skin. It was the boldest, most forthright statement issued in a long time concerning the fate of the "captive" nations.

It is reminiscent of the phrases used in the crusade begun by John Foster Dulles in 1952, when he called for the peaceful "liberation" of the satellite states in Eastern Europe. It is in line with the traditional policies of the United States for decades past which have expressed sympathy with the aspirations of oppressed peoples.

THE LANGUAGE of the resolution passed by Congress constitutes the most severe indictment of Soviet imperialism that has been proclaimed in a long time by any country of the West.

The full text follows:

"WHEREAS the greatness of the United States is in large part attributable to its having been able, through the democratic process, to achieve a harmonious national unity of its people, even though they stem from the most diverse of racial, religious, and ethnic backgrounds; and

"WHEREAS this harmonious unification of the diverse elements of our free society has led the people of the United States to possess a warm understanding and sympathy for the aspirations of peoples everywhere and to recognize the natural interdependency of the peoples and nations of the world; and

"WHEREAS the enslavement of a substantial part of the world's population by Communist imperialism makes a mockery of the idea of peaceful coexistence between nations and constitutes a detriment to the natural bonds of understanding between the people of the United States and other peoples; and

"WHEREAS since 1918 the imperialistic and aggressive policies of Russian Communism have resulted in the creation of a vast empire which poses a dire threat to the security of the United States and of all the free peoples of the world; and

"WHEREAS the imperialistic policies of Communist Russia have led, through direct and indirect aggression, to the subjugation of the national independence of Poland, Hungary, Lithuania, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Estonia, White Ruthenia, Romania, East Germany, Bulgaria, Mainland China, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, North Korea, Albania, Idel-Ural, Tibet, Cossackia, Turkestan, North Vietnam and others; and

"WHEREAS these submerged nations look to the United States, as the citadel of human freedom, for leadership in bringing about their liberation and independence and in restoring to them the enjoyment of their Christian, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist or other religious freedoms and of their individual liberties; and

"WHEREAS it is vital to the national security of the United States that the desire for liberty and independence on the part of the peoples of these conquered nations should be steadfastly kept alive; and

"WHEREAS the desire for liberty and independence by the overwhelming majority of the people of these submerged nations constitutes a powerful deterrent to war and one of the best hopes for a just and lasting peace; and

"WHEREAS it is fitting that we clearly manifest to such peoples through an appropriate and official means the historic fact that the people of the United States share with them their aspirations for the recovery of their freedom and independence: Now, therefore, be it

The President is further authorized and requested to issue a similar proclamation each year until such time as freedom and independence shall have been achieved for all the captive nations of the world."

THE PRESIDENT in his proclamation repeated the phrases of the resolution and formally called on the American people to observe the week "with appropriate ceremonies and activities" and he urged people everywhere "to study the plight of the Soviet-dominated nations and to recommit themselves to the support of the just aspirations of the peoples of those captive nations."

Khrushchev insists now that all this is a "direct interference in the Soviet Union's internal affairs" and that it interferes with the possibility of "improving relations between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R."

The truth is that, as long as autocracy prevails anywhere, the world cannot be a safe place for free peoples. For at any moment such an autocracy can launch a war of aggression. Only when all peoples are their own masters can there be an assurance of permanent peace.

The baseball owners' lament that there aren't enough players to man three major leagues sounds silly when every team in the National and American leagues has men on tap it can bring out of obscurity on 24 hours' notice, not counting bench warmers itching for a chance to play.

It is always surprising during vacation season to see how well things go in the absence of all the indispensable men and women, especially the ones at the top who are carrying the weight of the world on their shoulders. But let the janitor take a couple days off, and the place falls apart.

What every householder finds out eventually is that there always comes a day this time of the year when everything that can be done has been done and that leaves nothing else to do but relax and enjoy the rest of the nice weather.

Besides the money they earn on blue-shirt summer jobs when they are lucky enough to get them, students preparing for white-shirt careers pick up a priceless education in sociological adaptability, meaning they learn how to get along with their neighbors.

I feel sure something will be done eventually about custom bridge-building over small streams —something on the order of the Bailey Bridges used in World War II that enabled military construction crews to replace any bombed-out bridge in a matter of hours.

The perfect example of mechanization is a one-man combine harvesting wheat, a job once performed laboriously by many men over a period of many days. And who wants to bet it won't be done by automation before the turn of the 21st century, meaning the man will get down off the combine and rely on a punch card to tell the machine what to do?

If you've never thought about it before, the chief difference between you and a politician is that he always thinks about who can get elected while you think about who would make a good officeholder.

The next time someone wonders what became of the art of conversation, your cue is to suggest it now is being used to fill up the spaces between commercials on radio and television.

If only to get in the first word on a subject shortly to be of major interest, I consider roasted ears of sweet corn to be the most overrated of all Yankee Doodle tasties, next to pumpkin pie, which is scarcely fit to eat.

That's Analysis Of Nixon-Khrushchev Argument

WASHINGTON

The public argument between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have given diplomats a shock but it didn't amount to much except perhaps to help both men politically at home.

They agreed Sunday their fast set-to at the American fair in Moscow Friday was just frank and hardhitting but not belligerent. It was almost like calling the whole thing good, clean fun.

All they did was hit each other over the head with propaganda where it could get the most mileage—in front of reporters and TV—since all they said to each other had been said before by themselves or their governments.

It was pretty much an old story except for the way it was done.

It didn't come any closer to settling anything—or making anything worse—between the United States and the Soviet Union than a high school debate between an all-American boy and an all-Russian boy, each sticking up for his own country.

Both men knew any real hope they might have for settling American-Soviet differences rested in their private talks, of which they have had several.

To professional diplomats, used to washing dirty international linen out of sight and with polite palaver, the spectacle of these two high government officials stepping on each other's toes may have seemed clumsy.

But the United States and the Soviet Union both have been clumsy in the way they have handled Nixon's visit. Nixon's own government put him under a handicap and left him open to abuse before he ever got to Moscow.

There is small excuse — except on the ground of thoughtlessness — for the fact that Congress and the Eisenhower administration combined to declare last week Captive Nations Week. This was a deliberate, anti-Communist slam, intended to remind the satellite peoples this country hadn't forgotten them.

What was forgotten was that last week was also the week Nixon was to arrive in the Soviet Union and that the Russians might—as they did—take out their irritation on Nixon.

But if this was clumsy, the Soviets looked ever more gawkish. They were incredibly clumsy.

They provided the world with living evidence of Nixon's suggestion to Khrushchev that the Soviets are afraid of ideas. Khrushchev's rejoinder — "we are telling you not to be afraid of ideas" —looked ridiculous in view of events.

The Soviets insisted that more than 100 books — including the World Almanac — be taken off the shelves of the American book exhibit at Moscow.

On top of this the Soviets scrambled up the news coverage of Nixon's trip with censorship — a fact that was duly noted in the American press whose dispatches from its reporters in Moscow were delayed or chopped up.

But, while ideas unquestionably have more freedom in this country, there should be a slight pause before crowing.

It was only six years ago that the State Department — under the prodding of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) — went in for some book-burning among volumes on the shelves of this government's overseas libraries.

Nixon's ordeal in Latin America last year — when, because of anti-American feeling, he had to endure spit and stones — did him political good. It created great sympathy for him and appreciation for sturdiness in an ordeal.

Now his slugfest with Khrushchev should do him political good here. Many Americans, fed up with Khrushchev's bluster, can easily identify themselves with him and tell themselves: "He told off that guy."

And Khrushchev could hardly lose at home by battering on Nixon. Any Russians, more concerned about their own feeling of inferiority toward the United States than the actual content of the argument, will no doubt applaud their premier for standing up to the American.

British Election Nears

By Raymond Moley

The signs in Britain all point to a general election in October. Under their system an election may be called whenever the Cabinet in power calls for it and that usually is a decision of the prime minister. The only condition is that it must be within five years of the preceding election. That one was held in May, 1955.

In 1945, because of the end of the war in Europe and the end of wartime unity between the parties, Churchill was almost compelled to have the polling in July and suffered a trouncing.

In 1950, with the five-year limit approaching and his party in trouble, Attlee decided on February. In 1951 the Labor party was in greater trouble and with its slim majority vanishing, October was the month.

In 1955 Churchill resigned and it seemed imperative for his successor, Sir Anthony Eden, to go to the country in May.

It seems to most Conservatives that an election this October would be wonderful for them.

THE DECISION will, however, not be made public by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan until September. British political strategy requires that the opposition be given the least possible time to get ready.

The anxiety of the British government for a summit conference is prompted by the approaching election. Such a conference, with the Prime Minister playing a major role, would be most popular. In 1955 the agreement of President Eisenhower to have such a conference won a lot of votes for the Conservatives.

Economic conditions decidedly favor the Conservatives. Unemployment is at an unusually low point and is falling. Production is high. And a strong statement of Conservative principles has been prepared for the campaign by Home Secretary R. A. Butler.

Generally, except in the Suez affair, Macmillan has been a strong and popular prime minister.

Meanwhile, there is not peace in the Labor party household. The question of doing something about nuclear tests and warfare has been a bone of contention for a long time.

At first, the argument was between the leader, Hugh Gaitskell, and Aneurin Bevan.

Finally a truce was declared between them but the trouble has now been renewed by Frank Cousins, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers Union, a powerful figure on the British scene, and his sympathizers among Labor members of Parliament.

THE COUSINS faction favors unilateral action by Britain in renouncing the use of the hydrogen bomb.

On July 11, Gaitskell, in a well-considered speech to a party rally, hurled a direct challenge at the Cousins notion. He said that it was "escapist, myopic and a peril to peace." As far as Cousins was concerned, the Socialist leader said that no "one man could dictate party decisions." If the Cousins idea were adopted, he added, it would mean the end of British participation in NATO. Gaitskell favors a "non-nuclear club" of nations.

This, of course, is what everyone including the Conservatives, provided the nations vitally concerned are willing to join — a very remote prospect.

Gaitskell has been critized by his party members for shedding most of his socialist ideas. Indeed, he is quite unwilling to sponsor further experiments in the nationalization of industries — a touchy subject which, when it was tried under Attlee, was neither successful nor popular.

The fact is that there is hardly any clear issue upon which the Labor party can offer a positive stand in an election.

Organization in the local areas and constituencies is vital in a British election. Here, too, the Labor party is in trouble. Much of its money must come from the trades unions and some of them are not overly enthusiastic about the extreme ideas of the radical people in the party.

While the local organizations of the Labor party have been growing weaker since their victory in 1945, the Conservatives have been building up theirs.

Sea Fever

Sun worship was popular in pagan America, but sun-bathing by the sea is relatively new.

It is only in recent decades that Americans have been seized by an epidemic of sea fever.

The demand for beach property has been so great, however, that almost every attractive seashore area on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf Coasts has been taken for private use or commercial development. Little land remains for the public.

The spectacularly beautiful Pacific shoreline of the United States stretches 1,700 miles from Mexico to Canada. In a recent survey, the National Park Service found that 1,448 miles of it are privately-owned and not available for public recreation.

The Park Service reported that only 240 miles of the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, 3,700 miles long, are owned by the people as a whole. More than half of the 240 miles are in the Cape Hatteras National Seashore Recreational Area (North Carolina)—and the Acadia (Maine) and Everglades (Florida) National Parks.

'A Better Model' Is Asked

It has become the habit of many adults to take frequent pot shots at the teen-agers. Often the criticisms appear to be justified, other times not.

Regardless, many adults leave themselves open for attack in turn because of the poor examples they set for the youngsters.

One of the younger residents of the community takes them to task on that basis in a letter which came to this desk recently. It was unsigned and for that reason has not been used in the customary "Letter To The Editor" column.

A re-reading, however, did serve to bring out some points worth passing along in the hope that they reach the ears of any adults who may fall into the various categories. Some of the letter-writer's observations follow:

"We are at long last beginning to realize the cause of most of young people's troubles can be traced back to their parents or home shortcomings. I like the verse in the Bible which tells about letting the person without guilt cast the first stone..."

"If everyone spent more time keeping themselves more righteous, we wouldn't have time to figure out what is wrong with others. Interest and constructive criticism are so much more helpful than just idle curiosity..."

"How can we tell our youth not to smoke when most parents do..."

"People serve liquor at the table with meals, keep it on hand, offer it often to the very young. Many children don't know that there is supposed to be any difference between it and soft drinks..."

"Do people think that when they give birth to a child that is all they have to do to be a parent? From then on do they think the responsibility belongs to someone else? "

"God gave us the Ten Commandments to live by. They are perfect and cover everything we come up against in our lives. If everyone in all the world followed them all it would be a perfect world without sin..."

"I've often heard that if a couple worked as hard to keep a marriage together as the work they go through getting out of one more marriages would last..."

"Some parents are so busy having a good time (they think) they want some one else to have the responsibility of their children. Others work so hard supplying material things for the home that the family grows up and is gone before they have taken time to enjoy them..."

"Children learn from the beginning by imitating. Please, let's give them a better model..."

The Master Of Contradiction

It undoubtedly is a source of enormous gratification to Nikita Khrushchev to know that by mere word or action he has the power to hang the world on the tenterhooks of confusion.

He took full advantage of this power on his recent 10-day tour of Poland. This is attested by cancellation of his tour of the Scandinavian countries scheduled for August — an action which caught the world by surprise and has created another great babble of conjecture to top all conjecture over the trail of confusion he has blazed in Poland.

Gallivanting about that enslaved country he took time out from day to day to offer a solemn pledge that the Russians never would launch a war against anybody at any time. Another day he threatened to bury us or warned that we must get out of Berlin by such and such a date. At still another time he rattled the nuclear bombs in his arsenal.

These diatribes had all been tested before and found effective, but then Khrushchev came up with a new angle. Without forewarning his scheduled trip to Scandinavia, which was to have been a sequel to the Polish tour, was called off.

The reason given was that the cancellation was due to anti-Russian criticism in the press and among political leaders in the Scandinavian countries.

While the snub has all the outward signs of a childish pique, Mr. K. is seldom childish in his actions and a great search is underway for some underlying reason for his refusal to visit Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Finland next month.

The answer to the latest riddle, as to so many others propounded by Soviet policy, would seem locked for the present in the dark recesses of the Kremlin.

It is conceivable that Khrushchev has no desire to risk hostile Scandinavian demonstrations after a reasonably successful Polish tour. After all the Soviet Premier is enjoying the world spotlight in his role as master of contradiction and would prefer to have that spotlight fall on cheering throngs rather than the jeering ones.

One lesson that can be drawn from the withdrawal of Khrushchev from the Nordic scene is that he can be a very unpredictable guest—a fact that the United States might well bear in mind. He is quite likely to leave his host with the dinner cooling on the table while he gloats at home over the confusion he has the power to create.

Of Speed And Power

By Frank Tripp

What man hasn't modernized and spoiled remains the same along old Seneca, as I knew it when a boy. Nature will not be subdued; nor wipe golden days from memory.

It does worse; takes away the pioneers who were the link between the many generations who have inhabited the romantic Finger Lakes; my boyhood playground, our half-year home.

The Senecas, the strongest and largest tribe of the Iroquois Indians and their sage chief, Red Jacket, are the first recorded masters of the most majestic, deepest lake within New York State's borders.

Every year that we go back, the old lake reflects its mystery to a newer set of people who know it less and respect it little; yet its autocracy and pranks have never changed. And when it is ready it lashes forth its anger.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION on the highways has extended to waterways miles in width. The Indans' birch bark canoes are replaced by high-powered outboards piloted by mere children who will not legally drive a car for five more years.

Parents turn them loose with the most powerful craft they can afford—and trust to good fortune that they'll get back alive and kill nobody.

From where I write, the vista provides a thrill an hour in the busy vacation season. Smart young alecks chasing each other over 500 feet of water, making turns no boat was meant to negotiate; missing each other by feet, often inches. Fun?

People resent laws and restrictions which their own stupidity make necessary. Now there will be, and needed, driving licenses for small craft operation and strict penalties for violating the common sense rules of navigation; so simple that they basically only mean keeping out of each other's way.

THE CURSE that has made the automobile a lethal weapon has hit the boating industry, and is turning once safe spots for children into crossroads of death and danger. Power and speed. For why?

The joy of a boat once was the comfort of it. With no place to go and nothing to do when they get there, today's young speed demons are ruining a relaxation for others; endangering lives and turning quiet coves into noisy raceways.

The old primers taught: "Walking and rowing are the best exercise." Find a kid today who will do either. They hitch hike to school, or go by public bus. They would sit on the shore all day rather than row a boat. Parents abet it.

The legs and the backs they neglect will fail them years too early; weak hearts and pithy lungs already take tolls in record numbers. Indulgent papas and mamas—not the kids—are the reason.

Speed and leisure are their gods; grief the Harvest!

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

THIS IS THE SEASON when everybody goes for a rest and returns to work in genuine need of it. Modern life has taken all relaxation out of vacation. Grandpa got more rest out of a hammock 25 feet from the house than a man gets today on a 500-mile journey to some spot recommended by a neighbor promoting nervous breakdowns. Preparations wear a man out. The Missus becomes a wreck before she is halfway through the vacation literature.

Vacations have now become an ordeal by super-planning, intensive map reading, wrong roads, detours and signs reading "Roads Under Repair." Not to mention gasoline wars, ptomaine poisoning, ants in the hamburgers and family arguments over who had the can opener last.

You go from a cool, comfortable home to a clammy shack, where you can be guaranteed discomfort wholesale and with no discount for personal fortitude.

If you take a cottage, it's life among the depleted sets of dishes, prehistoric gas ranges, damp carpets and beds which the Green Mountain Boys slept in.

You get the thrill that comes with making a bad mistake the three whole weeks and go for broke paying for a cock-eyed idea of comfort.

Every summer sees wider and faster highways to take you from home to the mountains and beaches but you travel so fast you can't see the scenery or identify the towns.

The happiest guy we know stayed in the city and sent the wife and kids to the country. At least he didn't hear the constant cry of "Are you sure you took the right turn?" and "I think we should stop and go back. Mommer must have fallen out on that last curve."

MOSCOW SPEAKS

Our faces full of love" sweet glow;
The peaceful tie is simple, quite. . . .
IF YOU ADMIT I'M ALWAYS RIGHT!

The largest "dangerous" American snake is the eastern diamondback, which is also the longest of the rattlesnakes and one of the heaviest venomous snakes in the world. Adults are commonly five feet long, with the record of seven feet three inches. The smallest dangerous American snake is the Arizona coral snake, which is not known to reach a length of appreciably more than 19 inches.

The largest antelope in the world is the African eland. In size, it is equal to a full-grown horse, and weighs a thousand pounds or more.

Khrushchev Contributes To Own Defeat

By David Lawrence

Nikita Khrushchev has unwittingly contributed to his own spectacular defeat in the court of public opinion throughout the world. The resolution passed by Congress and the President's proclamation in answer thereto, designating the third week in July as "Captive Nations Week," might have gotten scant attention but, thanks to the Soviet Premier, the proclamation now has been publicized everywhere. He has denounced it and has thereby opened up a debate as to whether the satellite nations are "captives" and "enslaved."

David Lawrence

The Soviet autocrat says that only the "capitalist" countries are "enslaved" but he ignores the fact that free elections are not held anywhere behind the Iron Curtain and that only governmental rulers handpicked by the Kremlin are in office, while the dissenters are dead or in jail.

Small wonder the resolution, which passed by overwhelming vote of both parties in the Senate and House earlier this month, got under Khrushchev's skin. It was the boldest, most forthright statement issued in a long time concerning the fate of the "captive" nations.

It is reminiscent of the phrases used in the crusade begun by John Foster Dulles in 1952, when he called for the peaceful "liberation" of the satellite states in Eastern Europe. It is in line with the traditional policies of the United States for decades past which have expressed sympathy with the aspirations of oppressed peoples.

THE LANGUAGE of the resolution passed by Congress constitutes the most severe indictment of Soviet imperialism that has been proclaimed in a long time by any country of the West.

The full text follows:

"WHEREAS the greatness of the United States is in large part attributable to its having been able, through the democratic process, to achieve a harmonious national unity of its people, even though they stem from the most diverse of racial, religious, and ethnic backgrounds; and

"WHEREAS this harmonious unification of the diverse elements of our free society has led the people of the United States to possess a warm understanding and sympathy for the aspirations of peoples everywhere and to recognize the natural interdependency of the peoples and nations of the world; and

"WHEREAS the enslavement of a substantial part of the world's population by Communist imperialism makes a mockery of the idea of peaceful coexistence between nations and constitutes a detriment to the natural bonds of understanding between the people of the United States and other peoples; and

"WHEREAS since 1918 the imperialistic and aggressive policies of Russian Communism have resulted in the creation of a vast empire which poses a dire threat to the security of the United States and of all the free peoples of the world; and

"WHEREAS the imperialistic policies of Communist Russia have led, through direct and indirect aggression, to the subjugation of the national independence of Poland, Hungary, Lithuania, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Estonia, White Ruthenia, Romania, East Germany, Bulgaria, Mainland China, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, North Korea, Albania, Idel-Ural, Tibet, Cossackia, Turkestan, North Vietnam and others; and

"WHEREAS these submerged nations look to the United States, as the citadel of human freedom, for leadership in bringing about their liberation and independence and in restoring to them the enjoyment of their Christian, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist or other religious freedoms and of their individual liberties; and

"WHEREAS it is vital to the national security of the United States that the desire for liberty and independence on the part of the peoples of these conquered nations should be steadfastly kept alive; and

"WHEREAS the desire for liberty and independence by the overwhelming majority of the people of these submerged nations constitutes a powerful deterrent to war and one of the best hopes for a just and lasting peace; and

"WHEREAS it is fitting that we clearly manifest to such peoples through an appropriate and official means the historic fact that the people of the United States share with them their aspirations for the recovery of their freedom and independence: Now, therefore, be it

"RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation designating the third week in July 1959 as 'Captive Nations Week' and inviting the people of the United States to observe such week with appropriate ceremonies and activities. The only condition is that it must be within five years of the preceding election. That one was held in May, 1955.

In 1945, because of the end of the war in Europe and the end of wartime unity between the parties, Churchill was almost compelled to have the polling in July and suffered a trouncing.

In 1950, with the five-year limit approaching and his party in trouble, Attlee decided on February. In 1951 the Labor party was in greater trouble and with its slim majority vanishing, October was the month.

In 1955 Churchill resigned and it seemed imperative for his successor, Sir Anthony Eden, to go to the country in May.

It seems to most Conservatives that an election this October would be wonderful for them.

THE DECISION will, however, not be made public by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan until September. British political strategy requires that the opposition be given the least possible time to get ready.

The anxiety of the British government for a summit conference is prompted by the approaching election. Such a conference, with the Prime Minister playing a major role, would be most popular. In 1955 the agreement of President Eisenhower to have such a conference won a lot of votes for the Conservatives.

Economic conditions decidedly favor the Conservatives. Unemployment is at an unusually low point and is falling. Production is high. And a strong statement of Conservative principles has been prepared for the campaign by Home Secretary R. A. Butler.

Generally, except in the Suez affair, Macmillan has been a strong and popular prime minister.

Meanwhile, there is not peace in the Labor party household. The question of doing something about nuclear tests and warfare has been a bone of contention for a long time.

At first, the argument was between the leader, Hugh Gaitskell, and Aneurin Bevan.

Finally a truce was declared between them but the trouble has now been renewed by Frank Cousins, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers Union, a powerful figure on the British scene, and his sympathizers among Labor members of Parliament.

THE COUSINS faction favors unilateral action by Britain in renouncing the use of the hydrogen bomb.

On July 11, Gaitskell, in a well-considered speech to a party rally, hurled a direct challenge at the Cousins notion. He said that it was "escapist, myopic and a peril to peace." As far as Cousins was concerned, the Socialist leader said that no "one man could dictate party decisions." If the Cousins idea were adopted, he added, it would mean the end of British participation in NATO. Gaitskell favors a "non-nuclear club" of nations.

This, of course, is what everyone including the Conservatives, provided the nations vitally concerned are willing to join — a very remote prospect.

Gaitskell has been critized by his party members for shedding most of his socialist ideas. Indeed, he is quite unwilling to sponsor further experiments in the nationalization of industries — a touchy subject which, when it was tried under Attlee, was neither successful nor popular.

The fact is that there is hardly any clear issue upon which the Labor party can offer a positive stand in an election.

Organization in the local areas and constituencies is vital in a British election. Here, too, the Labor party is in trouble. Much of its money must come from the trades unions and some of them are not overly enthusiastic about the extreme ideas of the radical people in the party.

While the local organizations of the Labor party have been growing weaker since their victory in 1945, the Conservatives have been building up theirs.

Sea Fever

Sun worship was popular in pagan America, but sun-bathing by the sea is relatively new.

It is only in recent decades that Americans have been seized by an epidemic of sea fever.

The demand for beach property has been so great, however, that almost every attractive seashore area on the Atlantic, Pacific, and Gulf Coasts has been taken for private use or commercial development. Little land remains for the public.

The spectacularly beautiful Pacific shoreline of the United States stretches 1,700 miles from Mexico to Canada. In a recent survey, the National Park Service found that 1,448 miles of it are privately-owned and not available for public recreation.

The Park Service reported that only 240 miles of the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, 3,700 miles long, are owned by the people as a whole. More than half of the 240 miles are in the Cape Hatteras National Seashore Recreational Area (North Carolina)—and the Acadia (Maine) and Everglades (Florida) National Parks.

300 Recreate Morgan Raid

early the next morning by hard-pressing Union cavalry.

The Rebels rode north toward Salineville where they discovered more Union forces, and after a short fight on the outskirts of Monroeville, they fled past the West Grove Cemetery, circling north and back east past the Bethesda Church and toward West Point.

—:—

YESTERDAY'S motorcade halted at the Brush Creek crossroads north of Bergholz, then stopped again at the West Grove Cemetery where most of the travelers walked into the grounds to see the graves of the two Confederates—marking the most northern advance made by the Confederacy.

Here the fife and drum crops played "Dixie" — written by Dan Emmett who was a native of Mount Vernon — and Dennis told of Lexington, Morgan's home.

The caravan then went to the Bethesda church, where the corps again serenaded and Col. Dorsey described the origin and activities of the unit which played for the funeral of A. A. Wolfson, the last Union soldier who died in 1955.

Col. Dorsey said the small unit has been requested to play at rites of the last Confederate soldier, now ill in Texas. He added that the grandfather of one of the corps members was captured by Morgan's men while the grandfather of another lived on the farm at Appomattox where Gen. Lee surrendered to Gen. Grant.

A SECTION OF the motorcade, including the bus and about half the autos, missed the Bethesda church halt, but went to the Morgan Monument State Park on Route 518 where the rest of the autos arrived at 5 p. m.

Introduced at the park where Norman Adams, president of the Trumbull County Historical Society; Alfred Crawford, president of the Salem Historical Society; Miss Leila Beard, president of the Columbiana Historical Society; Miss Martha McCloskey of the East Palestine Historical Society, and George Swetnam, feature writer for the Pittsburgh Press.

Mrs. Charles Snyder, wife of the county engineer, displayed a spur she said was once owned by Gen. Morgan, and Mrs. Frances Morton of Wellsville, county recorder, showed a sword which she said was presented by the captured general to her grandfather at the Whitacre House, where he was taken after the surrender.

PUGH SAID THE Morgan route will again be retraced iin 1960, 1961 and 1962, while plans are being considered for re-enacting the whole raid through Ohio in 1963.

The motorcade then went to Wellsville to the site of the former Whitacre House, where the Potters Bank & Trust Co. now stands.

Special traffic escort was given at Wellsville by Wellsville police, and later by Sheriff Russell VanFossan and the State Highway Patrol.

Nasser Warns Israel

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—Israel will be wiped from the map if she attacks Egypt, United Arab Republic President Gamel Abdel Nasser told a cheering crowd Sunday. Appearing at a rally celebrating the seventh anniversary of the 1952 Egyptian revolution that toppled King Farouk, Nasser's bristling speech was prompted by a statement from former Israeli army chief Moshe Dayan that his country should "return hostility for hostility" from Egypt.

Socialite In Kidnap Hoax May Shift Wedding Date

SHORT HILLS, N.J. (AP) — A spokesman for the Ralph A. Hart family says there has been some discussion about changing the date of Jacqueline Gay Hart's wedding. It is scheduled for Aug. 29.

But the spokesman, George Gaines, did not elaborate for newsmen Sunday. He is the brother of Stanley Gaines, 25, Jacqueline's fiance.

Hart, executive vice president of the Colgate-Palmolive Co., has ruled out immediate comment about the wedding, except to say: "As far as I know, they will be married."

The blonde, 21-year-old socialite arrived home by plane Saturday from Chicago, where she turned up after vanishing from New Jersey last Tuesday.

At first, she told police she had been abducted, but later admitted the story was a hoax.

The FBI says she "sort of exploded" from the tension of elaborate wedding preparations.

Gay saw her fiance take a plane for Pittsburgh Tuesday night. Then, as she told police, she took a bus to New York and registered at a hotel there under the name of Dagmar Anderson of Allenville, Va.

She spent the night there, then took a bus to Chicago Wednesday morning. There, she heard radio reports of the furor caused by her disappearance.

FBI Chief Richard Auerbach in Chicago said Gay went to five movies on Thursday and then, "in a panic, and not quite realizing what she was doing, and being all confused, she took a cab out into the park. She walked for a while and hailed the first police car she saw."

Joseph Weldon, Newark police director, indicated no charges would be filed against the girl.

The chief assistant U.S. attorney in Chicago, Mitchell S. Rieger, also declined to prosecute Gay for giving false information about a kidnaping because of her "current and previous general mental and physical condition."

Gay herself cleared up one mystery — the disappearance of $5,000 worth of jewelry she wore when she left home.

She explained she mailed the gems from Chicago to a New York bus terminal. The FBI returned it to her Sunday.

Salvation Army Sets Officer Commissioning

Commissioning of local officers will mark the current "Family For Christ" evangelistic crusade at the Salvation Army Citadel Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. The public is invited.

A number of members will be commissioned and others already holding commissions will be confirmed.

The commissions will be presented by Senior-Maj. and Mrs. William Murtaugh.

Robert Barton of Springfield, a former resident of East Liverpool, will speak on "A Charge to Keep."

Special music will be presented by the Evangels Male Quartet of University Park, Iowa, who are making a tour of the area.

McElroy Remains Confident If Reds Unleash Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has fewer than 10 intercontinental range missiles capable of hitting the United States, Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy says.

McElroy's statement Sunday contrasted with his news conference views six months ago when he said "We do not believe that Russia has an ICBM capable of operation against this country at this time."

McElroy made it clear Sunday that U.S. defense leaders believe over-all American weapons "could more than match whatever the Russians will have in intercontinental ballistic missile capability."

McElroy said during a television interview with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) the United States must retain an ability to destroy the Soviet Union if the Soviets should attack with large weapons.

Iceland has an area of 40,437 square miles.

JP Continues One-Man Fight Against Keystone Blue Laws

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — "There's more than one way to skin a cat," figured Justice of the Peace Earl B. Dougherty. That, he said, is the theory he applied Sunday to Pennsylvania's Sunday blue laws.

Daugherty spent the day driving through Bucks County, just north of Philadelphia, handing out 159 conviction-on-sight notices. The recipients included actress Peggy Cass, two toll booth collectors, a radio announcer, numerous plant guards, a druggist, a newspaper, and the reporters and photographers followng him.

"I'm actually against the Sunday blue laws," Dougherty said. "They're chaotic and outmoded and if they were strictly enforced would strangle Pennsylvania's entire economy.

"I'm a justice of the peace and it's my duty to enforce the law. So I did."

He reached the Bristol Playhouse, a summer theater, during the first act intermission and asked to see Miss Cass.

"Are you worldly employed?" he asked, after introducing himself.

"Yes," said Miss Cass.

"Are you being paid?"

"Yes."

"I hereby convict you on view for violation of the Sunday blue laws." He handed her a notice.

"Why I've never won a thing, and I'd rather not win this," the actress joked.

But, like the others, she must, according to the notice, appear today before Dougherty and pay a $4 fine plus $9 costs.

Dougherty's tour came at a time when the State House is considering a Senate-passed bill increasing the fine for violating the 1794 blue laws to $100 for the first offense and $200 for each subsequent offense The purpose is to discourage merchants who consider the $4 fine a business expense.

Dougherty conducted a similar tour last Sunday, issuing 66 conviction notices. This brought criticism from Dist. Atty. Paul Beckert of Bucks County. Beckert pointed out that Dougherty is allowed to keep the $9 costs.

"All you have to do is multiply 66 by $9 costs and you have $594." Beckert said. "That's a good morning or afternoon's work."

Dougherty said the fees are only a "by-product" of what he is trying to do and not the real issue at all.

2 Youths Penalized

LISBON — Driving license of Robert A. Williams Jr., 16, of 236 N. Market St. was suspended for 30 days for speeding, and Laleen J. Drakulich, 16, of R. D. 5, was fined $10 for failing to yeild the right-of-way. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol for Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse.

Seasoning guide: It's safe to use one-quarter teaspoon of salt to one cup of boiling water when you are cooking vegetables. Cover the vegetables but lift the top of the saucepan of skillet several times during the cooking of green vegetables because this helps them retain their attractive color.

JP Continues One-Man Fight Against Keystone Blue Laws

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — "There's more than one way to skin a cat," figured Justice of the Peace Earl B. Dougherty. That, he said, is the theory he applied Sunday to Pennsylvania's Sunday blue laws.

Daugherty spent the day driving through Bucks County, just north of Philadelphia, handing out 159 conviction-on-sight notices. The recipients included actress Peggy Cass, two toll booth collectors, a radio announcer, numerous plant guards, a druggist, a newspaper, and the reporters and photographers followng him.

"I'm actually against the Sunday blue laws," Dougherty said. "They're chaotic and outmoded and if they were strictly enforced would strangle Pennsylvania's entire economy.

"I'm a justice of the peace and it's my duty to enforce the law. So I did."

He reached the Bristol Playhouse, a summer theater, during the first act intermission and asked to see Miss Cass.

"Are you worldly employed?" he asked, after introducing himself.

"Yes," said Miss Cass.

"Are you being paid?"

"Yes."

"I hereby convict you on view for violation of the Sunday blue laws." He handed her a notice.

"Why I've never won a thing, and I'd rather not win this," the actress joked.

But, like the others, she must, according to the notice, appear today before Dougherty and pay a $4 fine plus $9 costs.

Dougherty's tour came at a time when the State House is considering a Senate-passed bill increasing the fine for violating the 1794 blue laws to $100 for the first offense and $200 for each subsequent offense. The purpose is to discourage merchants who consider the $4 fine a business expense.

Dougherty conducted a similar tour last Sunday, issuing 66 conviction notices. This brought criticism from Dist. Atty. Paul Beckert of Bucks County. Beckert pointed out that Dougherty is allowed to keep the $9 costs.

"All you have to do is multiply 66 by $9 costs and you have $594." Beckert said. "That's a good morning or afternoon's work."

Dougherty said the fees are only a "by-product" of what he is trying to do and not the real issue at all.

2 Youths Penalized

LISBON — Driving license of Robert A. Williams Jr., 16, of 236 N. Market St. was suspended for 30 days for speeding, and Laleen J. Drakulich, 16, of R. D. 5, was fined $10 for failing to yeild the right-of-way. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol for Traffic Court hearings at the Courthouse.

Seasoning guide: It's safe to use one-quarter teaspoon of salt to one cup of boiling water when you are cooking vegetables. Cover the vegetables but lift the top of the saucepan of skillet several times during the cooking of green vegetables because this helps them retain their attractive color.

Drilling Hole In Earth Under Sea

Site For 'Mohole Project' May Take Months To Find

By LEONARD ENGEL
By The Associated Press

ABOARD RESEARCH VESSEL VEMA (AP)—The most inaccessible region on earth is the bottom of the ocean.

Submarines have gone as deep as 1,000 feet. The bathyscaph—a special vehicle for deepwater diving—has been down to 13,000 feet.

Vast reaches of the ocean are 18,000 feet deep or more. In the Marianas Trench west of Guam, British and Soviet research ships have sounded the almost unbelievable depth of 36,000 feet—deep enough to bury Mt. Everest, with a mile and a quarter to spare.

In spite of its inaccessibility, the ocean floor is being made to reveal its secrets. Submarine mountains more massive than any on land; canyons dwarfing the Grand Canyon of the Colorado; plants that stretch for hundreds of miles without a rise of as much as a foot; delicate starfish and other forms of life marvelously adapted to the dark, near-freezing waters and thousands - of - pounds - per-square - inch pressures of the ocean floor.

Oceanographers visit this strange, hidden world with the eyes, ears and hands of science—instruments that can go places and do things impossible to man himself. While I was aboard the Columbia University research ship Vema, one or another device for exploring the ocean bottom was constantly in operation.

Vema and three other ocean research craft were trying to find a good drilling site as the first step toward a historic sea-exploration project: the bold Mohole scheme for drilling a hole through the earth's crust beneath the sea.

"We won't know for some months whether a good place for the Mohole has been found," declares Dr. Arthur Maxwell of the Office of Naval Research, co-sponsor, with the National Science Foundation, of the Mohole survey.

A key bottom-exploration pool is the echo depth finder, an ear that hears the depth of the water.

Another device, the thermograd, can be put down to the bottom to feel and record temperatures within the ocean floor, and tell for instance, whether volcanic activity is taking place near by. An eye for viewing the ocean floor is furnished by the bottom camera.

But the most striking tool for probing the bottom is a 40-foot piece of steel pipe surmounted by a finned weight shaped like a foreshortened rocket. This is the piston corer. Gravity and an ingenious piston arrangement drive it up to 80 feet into the ocean floor and punch out rod-shaped samples of the layers of mud and sediment forming the sea bottom.

Cores brought back by the 1½-ton machine reveal not only the nature of the ocean floor but hidden chapters from the earth's book of history.

During the Mohole survey, Vema averaged a core every other day. Analyzing the core samples will take several months.

The core often comes up badly bent from its jarring encounter with the ocean bottom. Moreover, there is the ever-present possibility of the cable breaking—an accident that at least means loss of the corer and thousands of feet of snarled cable, and can send the cable whipping across the deck like a lethal snake.

3 Lose Lives As Ohio Cars Ram Head-On

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP)—Three persons are dead as a result of the head-on collision of two cars driven by Ohioans near Pellston on U.S. 31.

More than 80 persons from this northern Michigan area responded to hospital appeals for blood to help four critically injured survivors of the Saturday accident.

Authorities said a Mansfield, Ohio, couple — Frank S. Bogner, 66, and his wife Elizabeth, 65—was in one car, which skidded into the path of the other. Both were killed.

The other car was driven by James McNannamy of Lima, Ohio.

He was accompanied by his wife Kathryn, daughter Katie Jo, 15, and Robert M. Hoffman, also of Lima. They are in critical condition at Little Traverse Hospital here, where a fifth occupant of the car, Alice Kostecka, 32, of Chicago, died of injuries Saturday night.

Scout Camp Opens With 121 Attending

LISBON — Some 121 Boy Scouts are attending the fourth week at Camp Twin-Spruce at Leesville Lake, according to Bennett D. Taylor, executive for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council.

Troops participating are 38 and 12 of East Liverpool, 27 of Chester, 46 of Salineville, 6 of Salem and 113 of East Palestine. Next week is the final camping of the Shawnee and Cherokee Districts this year, Taylor said.

Hamilton is the capital of Bermuda.

Form For Entry Now Available For 'Crate Derby'

Chester area boys age 10 to 16 who wish to enter the Chester Lions Club "crate derby" Saturday may obtain rules and application blanks at the D'Angelo Shoe Repair Shop, People's Finance Service Co. and Chester Lumber Co.

Dino Rossi, chairman of the derby, said cash prizes will be awarded in three divisions in the event to be held on Indiana Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. in connection with the annual Chester firemen's fair.

The fair will open tonight at 7 at the City Park with amusement rides, concession stands, refreshments and other entertainment. Proceeds are used for fire equipment and various projects of the participating organizations.

Hammondsville

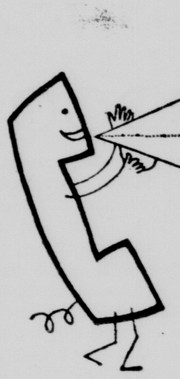

About 64 attended a party Wednesday evening celebrating the birthday anniversary of Kathleen Householder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Householder.

Entertainment included movies and games. A wiener roast followed. Guests were from Salineville, Wellsville, Negley and Hammondsville.

$2 In Cash Taken

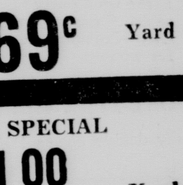

LISBON — About $2 worth of nickles were taken when intruders entered the home of C. J. Cetto on County Line Rd. near East Palestine Friday night, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan. Deputy Howard Gray, who investigated, said the thieves also drank two bottles of pop.

3 Lose Lives As Ohio Cars Ram Head-On

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP)—Three persons are dead as a result of the head-on collision of two cars driven by Ohioans near Pellston on U.S. 31.

More than 80 persons from this northern Michigan area responded to hospital appeals for blood to help four critically injured survivors of the Saturday accident.

Authorities said a Mansfield, Ohio, couple — Frank S. Bogner, 66, and his wife Elizabeth, 65—was in one car, which skidded into the path of the other. Both were killed.

The other car was driven by James McNannamy of Lima, Ohio.

He was accompanied by his wife Kathryn, daughter Katie Jo, 15, and Robert M. Hoffman, also of Lima. They are in critical condition at Little Traverse Hospital here, where a fifth occupant of the car, Alice Kostecka, 32, of Chicago, died of injuries Saturday night.

Scout Camp Opens With 121 Attending

LISBON — Some 121 Boy Scouts are attending the fourth week at Camp Twin-Spruce at Leesville Lake, according to Bennett D. Taylor, executive for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council.

Troops participating are 38 and 12 of East Liverpool, 27 of Chester, 46 of Salineville, 6 of Salem and 113 of East Palestine. Next week is the final camping of the Shawnee and Cherokee Districts this year, Taylor said.

Hamilton is the capital of Bermuda.

Form For Entry Now Available For 'Crate Derby'

Chester area boys age 10 to 16 who wish to enter the Chester Lions Club "crate derby" Saturday may obtain rules and application blanks at the D'Angelo Shoe Repair Shop, People's Finance Service Co. and Chester Lumber Co.

Dino Rossi, chairman of the derby, said cash prizes will be awarded in three divisions in the event to be held on Indiana Ave. between 3rd and 4th Sts. in connection with the annual Chester firemen's fair.

The fair will open tonight at 7 at the City Park with amusement rides, concession stands, refreshments and other entertainment. Proceeds are used for fire equipment and various projects of the participating organizations.

Hammondsville

About 64 attended a party Wednesday evening celebrating the birthday anniversary of Kathleen Householder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Householder.

Entertainment included movies and games. A wiener roast followed. Guests were from Salineville, Wellsville, Negley and Hammondsville.

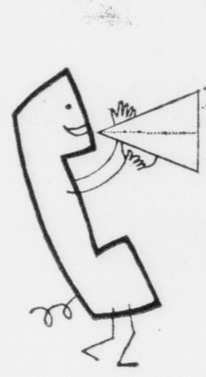

$2 In Cash Taken

LISBON — About $2 worth of nickles were taken when intruders entered the home of C. J. Cetto on County Line Rd. near East Palestine Friday night, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan. Deputy Howard Gray, who investigated, said the thieves also drank two bottles of pop.

Five committees were appointed at a meeting of Pride of the Valley Council, 4 Daughters of America, Friday night at the Sons of Veterans Hall. Mrs. Mary Paisley, councilor, and Mrs. Jessie Bowen, deputy, conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Mary E. Wines, Mrs. Lucille Chadwick, Mrs. Nora Fuller and Mrs. Helen Champion were named to the delinquent committee; Mrs. Paisley, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. Ann Calhoon and Mrs. Anna Shingler, relief; Mrs. Mabel Haney, Mrs. Mae Hough and Mrs. Stella Wright, orphans; Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Bowen and Mrs. Ethel Gleckner, good of the order, and Mrs. Louise Cubberley, press.

Mrs. Bowen installed Mrs. Cubberley as recording secretary, and Mrs. Fuller as associate junior past councilor. She was assisted by Mrs. Haney and Mrs. Gleckner, color bearers.

Plans were made of the district picnic Wednesday at Beatty's Park at Steubenville. The bus will leave the terminal at 1 o'clock and return at 9. Members are to bring a coverdish and table service.

Members who attended the meeting of the Past Councilors' Association of District 6 in June with Queen of Ohio Council at Wellsville gave reports. The local council will be hostess unit to the association in September.

The next meeting is Aug. 14.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

The public affairs committee of the East Liverpool Business & Professional Women's Club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Evans of McKinnon Ave., chairman. Mrs. Olive Williamson is co-chairman.

Mrs. Nessie Dunlop, president, was present.

Projects for the coming year were outlined. The committee will be in charge of the meeting Nov. 11 on the theme, "Home Preparedness for Civil Defense."

Lunch was served by the hostesses.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

The Calcutta Grange gave the second degree for six candidates at the Mile Branch Grange near Sebring Friday night. The first degree was under the supervision of the Mile Branch group.

Approximately 110 attended with 30 from the Calcutta Grange.

The meeting was conducted by Frank Harlan, master of the host group. Remarks were made by Dwight Hickman, master of the Calcutta group; W. A. Morris, past county deputy of the Midway Grange at Columbiana; Roger Stafford, past county deputy of the Bayard Grange near Minerva, and Clifford Shaw, master of the Lisbon Grange.

The next meeting of the Calcutta Grange is Aug. 4. Mrs. Faye Wright will be hostess.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Miss Irene Firth of Lisbon St. was hostess to the WSCS of the Calvary Methodist Church Friday night. Mrs. Edwin Smith was co-hostess.

Miss Suzanne Jennings was in charge of the program from the study book, "Christ for the World We Sing." The subject was "Building Christian Character — Youth."

Miss Jennings was assisted in readings by Miss Firth, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. John Webber, Mrs. Dorothy Fagan and Mrs. William Jennings.

Devotions were from Matt. 4 followed with group singing of "He Leadeth Me." The program closed with prayer.

During business conducted by the president, Miss Firth, a letter was read from Willa Jean Sauarbre and Beverly Pickering, who are attending the youth camp at Lakeside.

Mrs. Jennings gave the secretary's report and Mrs. Fagan the treasurer's.

Roll call was answered with a verse on youth of the Bible. Mrs. Barbara Beighley reported on the afternoon Naomi Circle. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

There will be no meeting in August and the next is Sept. 25.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

A silent auction highlighted the meeting of the Hill and Dell Club Friday night at the home of Mrs. Lessie Dailey of Fredericktown. Eleven were present.

Mrs. Dailey received a birthday gift and Mrs. Laura Mae Wright a miscellaneous gift, both from their secret pals. Mrs. Smith won a prize.

Mrs. Violet Martin of Route 7 and Mrs. Olive Grove of Tacoma, Wash., were guests.

The club held a family picnic at East Palestine City Park last week.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Marge Rambo and Mrs. Smith.

The next meeting will be Aug. 28 and the place will be announced.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Mrs. Louise Redd, a member of Crystal Club 18 of the Order of Eastern Star, was presented a farewell gift at its meeting Friday night at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Jennie Mackall, president, made the presentation. Mrs. Redd is going to Clearfield, Pa.

Twenty attended the coverdish dinner. The table was centered with red carnations and arrangements of red-centered yellow gladioli completed the setting. Mrs. Irene Mast gave the invocation.

The committee included Mrs. Emily Mountford, Mrs. Ivy Witherow and Mrs. Ruth Mackey.

Business was conducted by the president and the secretary-treasurer report was given by Mrs. Alma Ebert.

Cards were sent to two sick members, Mrs. Blanche Sevey and Mrs. Clara Schmelzenbach.

A picnic will feature the meeting Aug. 28 at Thompson Park. The committee will consist of Mrs. Pearl Capehart, Mrs. Mackey, Mrs. Mast, Mrs. Mackall and Mrs. Helen Walker. Mrs. Genevieve Hoffman and Mrs. Kathryn Cain will be in charge of entertainment.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

The Neeley Group of the Women's Association of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church will meet Wednesday for a 6 o'clock coverdish at the home of Mrs. Edgar Pittenger of Lisbon St.

The meeting had been scheduled at the home of Mrs. Richard Mosser of Route 30.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Lagging Dieters Must Keep Confidence

If you have failed many times in your dieting attempts, the tendency is to react to the same old failure pattern. Recognize that you need not repeat your past mistakes. When you step on the scales this Monday, you may or may not have lost weight—according to the scales. Don't let bad news dampen your enthusiasm. If you've stayed with the diet, the registration of weight loss is merely postponed.

Ida Jean Kain

Here's the explanation: In the process of reducing, the body often exchanges fat for water. When this occurs there will be no apparent weight loss until the water is released. Dieters, even though it is necessary for you to diet two or three weeks before you start to lose, be not daunted! If your calories are below your requirements, you are losing. One fine day the pointer will plunge many pounds.

—:—

ON THE CONTRARY, you may not be a slow starter. The scales may register five or six pounds off this Monday. You have lost water along with fat. This rapid loss will be followed by a subsequent lull in losing. When you hit this plateau, keep right on with the diet, even though it takes several weeks to register weight loss.

The people who get stuck in failure ruts are those who have a sort of apathy about themselves. William James said these wise words: "It is excitement, ideas and effort that restore energy and vitality to people."

Get excited about the possibilities of what you can do for yourself with this summer series. The starting point is to develop and hold on to a new concept of yourself. Visualize yourself as active and purposeful...and slimming down beautifully.

You will recognize that this is a completely different approach from trying to browbeat yourself into staying with reducing. With that plan you can hold out only so long as you exert force of will.

Be a winner mentally! Be bold in your thinking, and mighty forces will come to your aid. The happiest moment of your life is when you decide that nothing can defeat you!

SUMMER MENU

Breakfast

Chilled orange-grapefruit juice, 4 oz; cereal, hot or cold, ¾ cup; whole milk, ½ cup; sugar, 1 rounded tsp., coffee, black.

Luncheon

Hot tomato bouillon with herbs or chilled tomato juice (depending on weather); open face sandwich—sliced hard cooked egg, with lettuce on thin slice bread. Use thin spread of mayonnaise, dash of mustard—ripe banana.

Late Afternoon Pick-Up — Glass of skim milk or buttermilk.

Dinner

Round bone lamb chop broiled (lean meat only) or have leftover beef, 2 slices; baked potato, ½ medium; butter, ½ pat, ¼" thick; asparagus with pimento strips; pineapple and cottage cheese salad—cottage cheese, ½ cup, pineapple chunks, 5, lettuce, no dressing—hot tea or coffee (clear).

Total calories for day — 1070.

Negro Jurist Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herbert Millen, 67, Philadelphia municipal judge, the first Negro jurist in Pennsylvania, died Saturday. He suffered a heart attack July 11 while he was vacationing here with his wife.

MISS WEST VIRGINIA. Miss Janet Hill, 22, of Nitro was crowned Miss West Virginia Saturday night in Charleston. The blue-eyed, dark-haired beauty won over 17 other contestants to earn the right to compete in the Miss America contest early in September at Atlantic City. Miss Hill's statistics are 36-24-36. He Refuses To Practice What He's Preaching

ASBURY PARK, N. J. (AP) — George Zuckerman steadfastly refuses to practice what he preaches.

For the past 27 years he has been the press agent trumpeting the praises of this famous beach resort.

Yet he has never gone swimming here.

"I'm too busy on the job," he says. "The only time I can go swimming is when I'm vacationing down in Miami."

Charges Are Argued

MANILA (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen and Philippine Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano met three hours today discussing charges Filipinos were murdered at Clark Air Force Base north of Manila. Bohlen said he would file a protest unless the Philippine government repudiated charges that guards at the air base shot 23 Filipinos suspected of stealing base property between 1947 and July 1958.

Camp Of Older Group Begins For Hancock 4-H Members

Eighty-five were expected to attend the Hancock County 4-H Camp for older members at the Tomlinson Run State Park near Pughtown this afternoon. Registration was to be held from 3 to 5. The younger group camped last week.

The main theme is "Gateways" and the daily themes will include, Tuesday, "Gateway to nature;" Wednesday, "Gateway to Adventure;" Thursday, "Gateway to Better Living," and Friday, "Gateway to creative Ability."

Mrs. Dean McLaughlin will speak on "Nature" tomorrow at 8 a. m. and at 1:45 p. m. and a representative from the Thomas Beauty Shop at Weirton, will speak on "Hair Style" at 2:15 p. m.

"Development of Human Resources" will be the topic of Mrs. Peter Davis Wednesday at 8 a. m. The Rev. William H. Flurkey of the Fairview Presbyterian Church at Pughtown will speak Wednesday afternoon. In the evening, a party will be featured and the theme will be "Dog Patch Holler."

Dr. Amos Mesaros will speak on "Teeth White—Smile Bright," followed by a talk by State Trooper Donald Lake on "Highway Safety" Thursday afternoon. A "good-grooming" contest will be a highlight Thursday night and a king and queen will be crowned.

Speakers for Friday afternoon include James Ayers, "Ceramics;" David Bruchniewski, "Coins;" Mrs. Lou Hill, "Nature and Pets," and N. M. Zack, "Indian Relics."

Mrs. Agnes Ferguson, camp nurse, is also scheduled to speak.

Three state workers assisting are MacDonald Harris, Eddie Rapkin and Miss Beverly Jo Hinerman.

Among the leaders are Mrs. Alvin Reed of the Allison School district, Mrs. William Schladen of Lawrenceville and Mrs. Robert Burch of Chester.

Miss Helen Petrakis is the club agent for the county and Oliver Johnson, county agricultural agent, both of Weirton.

The camp will close Friday night at 10 with the council circle.

Have you just started to diet? If you are now taking milk in your coffee you'll find the beverage will be at its best if you heat the milk, then pour both coffee and milk (use both hands!) into your cup or mug at the same time. But make sure your coffee is really strong because you'll be using half milk.

There Often Are Advantages In Modernizing An Old Home

CHICAGO — "We looked for a house with four bedrooms and two bathrooms, but couldn't find one. So we decided to modernize our own house by adding another bedroom and a bathroom."

This is typical of the experience of many parents who find themselves living in houses that are bursting at the seams with four, five, six or more children.

After checking on the houses available for purchase, they often decide that they would be better off modernizing the house in which they are living.

Given a house with sound construction located in a desirable neighborhood, there are many advantages in modernizing it instead of buying a new house or another old house in a different neighborhood.

Often the appearance of a house will be improved by the addition of a wing consisting of a bedroom and a bathroom, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

If the addition is in the form of an extension to the rear of the second floor, room usually can be found for a screened porch on the floor below plus a den or family room.

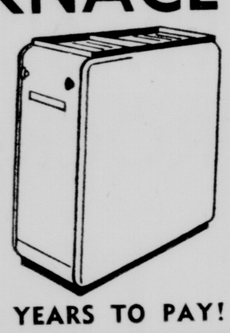

Under the guidance of an experienced architect and a plumbing contractor, the modernization can proceed with the minimum of inconvenience to the family.

The plumbing contractor will be glad to arrange for the work involving other craftsmen such as carpenters, electricians and decorators.

His estimate will include the work of other trades so that one monthly statement will cover the entire project. Or, if the owner prefers, the cost of the addition to the house can be added to the mortgage payments.

Application Need Cited To Obtain New SS Benefits

If you have been a breadwinner and are now disabled, no one has to remind you that every single dollar in your family budget counts.

Many families in this area facing such trying budgetary problems have been overlooking an available source of additional dollars, according to William J. McCauley, district manager of the Social Security Administration office at Youngstown.

McCauley identified this source as the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act which provide monthly payments to dependents of disabled workers who are receiving Social Security disability insurance benefits.

"In spite of the months that have gone by since these amendments were passed last August, there still are many children, wives and dependent aged husbands who have neglected to file for these benefits," McCauley said.

He emphasized that benefits are not paid automatically, but that an application must be filed. The Social Security office is ready to answer questions regarding eligibility requirements and to assist dependents in filing the necessary applications.

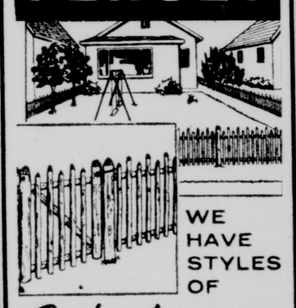

If you are getting disability insurance benefits, the following members of your family may be entitled to monthly payments:

(1)—your children under 18; (2)—your disabled child 18 years or over, if he became disabled before 18; (3) — your wife aged 62 or older (or your dependent husband age 65 or older), and (4)—your wife under age 62 if she has a child in her care who is entitled to benefits.

Applications for these benefits are retroactive to September 1958, provided that they are filed before October 1959. Delay in filing may result in a permanent loss of a number of sorely needed monthly checks.

"If you feel that some member of your family is eligible for dependent benefits," McCauley said, "then get in touch at once with the Youngstown Social Security office, 123 W. Commerce St."

West Virginia Legion Names New Officers

PARKERSBURG (AP) — New commander of the West Virginia Department of the American Legion is Bonn Brown of Elkins.

He was selected Sunday at the close of the 41st annual state convention here.

The state Legion adopted a resolution supporting the loyalty oath required by the National Defense Education Act.

Students and others receiving grants under the act must swear that they belong to no subversive organizations and are loyal to the United States.

H. J. S. Worls of Wheeling was named first vice commander of the state department, William J. Mathews of Parkersburg the second vice commander, John L. Witt Jr. of Fayetteville the third vice commander and G. H. Mitchell of Charleston, fourth vice commander.

Substitute Mailmen Targets For Dog Bites

NEW YORK (AP) — Take pity on the substitute mailman and use a muzzle or leash on your dog, Brooklyn pet owners have been urged.

Postmaster Edward J. Quigley says 60 letter carriers were put out of action by dog bites last year during the summer months.

Regular postmen generally make friends with dogs along their routes, Quigley explains, but substitutes who take over during vacations run into difficulty.

There Are No Shortcuts To Good Plumbing Plan

DRAINAGE DIAGRAM WATER SUPPLY

Many requests have been received for data covering the installation of a proper plumbing system for a small house.

No doubt this is because thousands of young people are building their own houses or adding to them and have found that the plumbing system is one of the most costly item in the process.

To make a long story short, a plumbing system is composed of three major installations of pipe.

The drainage system shown in heavy black line carries off all used water from the fixtures. The vent system provides for a constant flow of fresh air through the drainage system and also prevents the formation of vacuums which night retard flow-offs. The water supply system is entirely separate from either the drainage or the vent system and is never in any way directly connected to them.

The basic rules for any plumbing system are very plainly shown by the accompanying diagrams, but any one intending to install his own plumbing should note that there is quite a difference in the rules and regulations of various villages, counties, cities and states of this country.

There is no shortcut to a sanitary plumbing system, be it one watercloset and one washbasin or four tiled bathrooms. There must be a tight drainage, venting and watersupply system.

It should be noted that all fixtures shown are equipped with traps to prevent odor and gases from coming up into the fixtures. Without the vent system, the seal of water in the trap may siphon out and cause a very unhealthy condition.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY MEYERS

Patience Needed In Training Child

When your baby begins to explore and handle objects, you can induce him to hit or shake this or that one to make a noise. Later, you can get him to put one block on another or beside it. By positive suggestion or word, you can start him putting things together, even to make something he will enjoy. In ever so many ways you can induce him to amuse himself with approved materials. At least you can get him started on ways of creative fun. You can also help him see and examine things. Thus he can slowly learn casual relations. When you bring things beyond his sight or reach, lift him up or take him to them so that he can safely see and further examine them. Sometimes, too, you can satisfy him by explaining some things:

THEY BELONG to Daddy," or "We must leave them there and not touch them so we don't hurt them."

If the baby or tot has an overpowering urge to touch or seize certain things that he should not touch, no amount of persuading or reasoning may suffice. You must be final. Either keep them beyond his reach or train him to respect No or Don't.

Also, you may persuade the baby or tot to let you have an unsafe object if you offer him an attractive substitute. But there will be times when the creeping or toddling youngster is about to go to some dangerous thing when persuasion or diversion won't work.

Knowing it won't, you will not trust to reasoning or persuading. You will intercept or say No or even deter him with physical pain.

TRY TO HAVE no end of patience when inducing the tot to do what you wish him to do. But when you must say No or Don't, say it decisively. Use pain, if necessary, to deter him.

There are many opportunities for positive suggestions and requests to win the young child, say from two to five, to co-operate.

As a rule, however, after you have made a request, don't shift to a command and say "You must." If you often turn requests to commands, the youngster will suppose no request is a request at all.

This I explain at length in my bulletin "Stubbornness," to be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Man Arrested For Attack On Baby-Sitter

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A man under indictment for burglaries here and in Salem, Ohio, was held without charge today in connection with an attack on a 14-year-old baby sitter in a North Side home here.

He was identified by police as Marion Kennedy, 22, of suburban Brier Hill. Police said he first admitted he hit the girl twice on the head, but later denied that he was involved in the attack.

The girl told police a gunman awakened her as she slept on a couch in her sister's home early Sunday, pointed a gun at her and threatened to kill her if she screamed for help. The man struck her with a blunt instrument as she fought off his attempts to rape her, she said. She was treated at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for gashes on the neck.

Police said Kennedy had blood stains on his shirt when he was arrested about an hour after the attack and that there were a gun and several flashlights in his car.

Kennedy and two other persons were indicted May 5 for burglary and larceny of the Cooksey Coal Co., the Contro Calculating Machine Co. and the medical center of South Side Hospital here. He was released under $7,500 bond after pleading innocent.

Police said he later was picked up in connection with a burglary at Salem and indicted for breaking and entering.

There Often Are Advantages In Modernizing An Old Home

CHICAGO — "We looked for a house with four bedrooms and two bathrooms, but couldn't find one. So we decided to modernize our own house by adding another bedroom and a bathroom."

This is typical of the experience of many parents who find themselves living in houses that are bursting at the seams with four, five, six or more children.

After checking on the houses available for purchase, they often decide that they would be better off modernizing the house in which they are living.

Given a house with sound construction located in a desirable neighborhood, there are many advantages in modernizing it instead of buying a new house or another old house in a different neighborhood.

Often the appearance of a house will be improved by the addition of a wing consisting of a bedroom and a bathroom, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

If the addition is in the form of an extension to the rear of the second floor, room usually can be found for a screened porch on the floor below plus a den or family room.

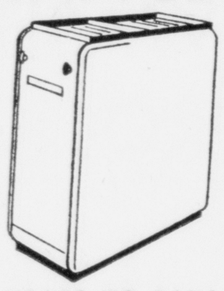

Under the guidance of an experienced architect and a plumbing contractor, the modernization can proceed with the minimum of inconvenience to the family.

The plumbing contractor will be glad to arrange for the work involving other craftsmen such as carpenters, electricians and decorators.

His estimate will include the work of other trades so that one monthly statement will cover the entire project. Or, if the owner prefers, the cost of the addition to the house can be added to the mortgage payments.

Application Need Cited To Obtain New SS Benefits

If you have been a breadwinner and are now disabled, no one has to remind you that every single dollar in your family budget counts.

Many families in this area facing such trying budgetary problems have been overlooking an available source of additional dollars, according to William J. McCauley, district manager of the Social Security Administration office at Youngstown.

McCauley identified this source as the 1958 amendments to the Social Security Act which provide monthly payments to dependents of disabled workers who are receiving Social Security disability insurance benefits.

"In spite of the months that have gone by since these amendments were passed last August, there still are many children, wives and dependent aged husbands who have neglected to file for these benefits," McCauley said.

He emphasized that benefits are not paid automatically, but that an application must be filed. The Social Security office is ready to answer questions regarding eligibility requirements and to assist dependents in filing the necessary applications.

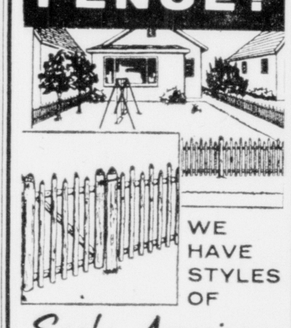

If you are getting disability insurance benefits, the following members of your family may be entitled to monthly payments:

(1)—your children under 18; (2)—your disabled child 18 years or over, if he became disabled before 18; (3) — your wife aged 62 or older (or your dependent husband age 65 or older), and (4)—your wife under age 62 if she has a child in her care who is entitled to benefits.

Applications for these benefits are retroactive to September 1958, provided that they are filed before October 1959. Delay in filing may result in a permanent loss of a number of sorely needed monthly checks.

"If you feel that some member of your family is eligible for dependent benefits," McCauley said, "then get in touch at once with the Youngstown Social Security office, 123 W. Commerce St."

West Virginia Legion Names New Officers

PARKERSBURG (AP) — New commander of the West Virginia Department of the American Legion is Bonn Brown of Elkins.

He was selected Sunday at the close of the 41st annual state convention here.

The state Legion adopted a resolution supporting the loyalty oath required by the National Defense Education Act.

Students and others receiving grants under the act must swear that they belong to no subversive organizations and are loyal to the United States.

H. J. S. Worls of Wheeling was named first vice commander of the state department, William J. Mathews of Parkersburg the second vice commander, John L. Witt Jr. of Fayetteville the third vice commander and G. H. Mitchell of Charleston, fourth vice commander.

Substitute Mailmen Targets For Dog Bites

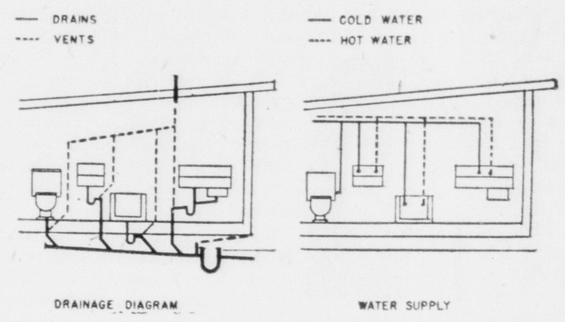

NEW YORK (AP) — Take pity on the substitute mailman and use a muzzle or leash on your dog, Brooklyn pet owners have been urged.

Postmaster Edward J. Quigley says 60 letter carriers were put out of action by dog bites last year during the summer months.

Regular postmen generally make friends with dogs along their routes, Quigley explains, but substitutes who take over during vacations run into difficulty.

There Are No Shortcuts To Good Plumbing Plan

DRAINAGE DIAGRAM WATER SUPPLY

Many requests have been received for data covering the installation of a proper plumbing system for a small house.

No doubt this is because thousands of young people are building their own houses or adding to them and have found that the plumbing system is one of the most costly item in the process.

To make a long story short, a plumbing system is composed of three major installations of pipe.

The drainage system shown in heavy black line carries off all used water from the fixtures. The vent system provides for a constant flow of fresh air through the drainage system and also prevents the formation of vacuums which night retard flow-offs. The water supply system is entirely separate from either the drainage or the vent system and is never in any way directly connected to them.

The basic rules for any plumbing system are very plainly shown by the accompanying diagrams, but any one intending to install his own plumbing should note that there is quite a difference in the rules and regulations of various villages, counties, cities and states of this country.

There is no shortcut to a sanitary plumbing system, be it one watercloset and one washbasin or four tiled bathrooms. There must be a tight drainage, venting and watersupply system.

It should be noted that all fixtures shown are equipped with traps to prevent odor and gases from coming up into the fixtures. Without the vent system, the seal of water in the trap may siphon out and cause a very unhealthy condition.

Father Of City Man Dies In Avalon At 83

Funeral services will be held Wednesday for James Gayley Shaw, 83, retired newspaper writer and publisher and prominent Western Pennsylvania civic figure, who died Sunday at his home in Avalon, Pa., after a long illness.

He was the father of George A. Shaw, advertising manager of The Review.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. at the McDonald Funeral Home in Avalon, with burial in Lakewood Memorial Cemetery at Dorseyville. Friends may call at the funeral home, 529 California Ave., Avalon, tonight and Tuesday night from 7 to 9.

Mr. Shaw, a native of Clarion County, Pa., spent most of his newspaper career as a reporter, editor and publisher in West Virginia and Pittsburgh, entering the field when a boy of 13 as a "printer's devil" on the Moundsville (W. Va.) Echo, weekly newspaper published by his father.

He became a reporter on the Wheeling News in 1898 and in 1905 became publisher of the Clarksburg (W.Va.) Daily News, selling it in 1910. He joined the Pittsburgh Post in 1917, becoming automobile editor, and then purchased the Northside Ledger in Pittsburgh in 1935, publishing it until 1940.

Long active in furthering civic projects, he was manager of the campaign for the bond issue that built Allegheny County Airport and Pittsburgh's North and South Parks. He was identified with the promotion of many bridge and highway improvements.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Honor Bright West Shaw; four other sons, two sisters and eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Louis Lombardi

Services for Mrs. Mary Jo Monte Lombardi of Lincoln, Neb., wife of Louis Lombardi and a former resident of Wellsville, will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Wellsville. Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery.

She died Friday in a hospital at Lincoln.

Friends may call at the MacLean Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon and night.

Mrs. Alice Gilbert

Services for Mrs. Alice Winkle Gilbert, 606 W. 9th St., who died Saturday at her home, will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home.

The Rev. Marc Anton Nocerino, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, will officate.

Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight. The Eastern Star Chapter will hold services tonight at 7 at the funeral home.

Infant Meehan

Services for James Patrick Meehan, son of John F. Meehan and Margaret Michels Meehan of Cleveland, were to be held this afternoon at 3 at the Dawson Funeral Home.

Fr. Anthony Esposito, an assistant pastor at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

The infant, who was born in Cleveland, died suddenly Sunday night at 7:30 at the home of his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Michels, 329 Thompson Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Meehan are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Michels.

Besides the parents and maternal grandparents, the child leaves a sister, Ann Meehan, and a brother, John M. Meehan, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank J. Meehan of Holyoke, Mass.

John G. Mihaiu

John G. Mihaiu, a patient at the Fox Nursing Home at Chester since 1954, died Saturday at 4:30 p. m. at City Hospital. He was 75.

He was born in Romania Jan. 6, 1884, and came to America in 1904. He had resided in the Weirton area since 1912.

He leaves a brother, Alexander Mihaiu and a sister, Miss Anna Mihaiu, both in Romania.

Services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Fields Funeral Home at New Cumberland. Burial will be in Flats Cemetery at Pughtown.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday after 4 p. m.

William R. Grimes

NEW CUMBERLAND — Services for William Rainy Grimes of R. D., who died Saturday at the Weirton General Hospital, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Fields Funeral Home.

The Rev. Allen F. Fields of the Christian Church will officiate.

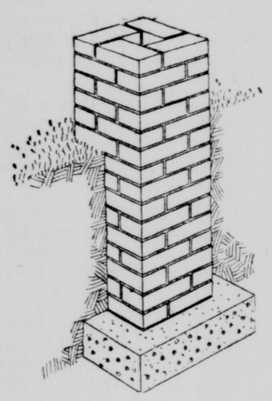

Burial will be in Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens at Weirton.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Proper Footing Is Key To Masonry Structure

No doubt you often have seen brick or stone piers at the entrance to a country house which have taken on a lopsided slant.

You also have seen cellar walls with a large crack running from top to bottom or buildings which have been condemned because of badly-leaning walls. All of these conditions result from the fact that the footings, the lowest part of any structure, were inadequate or improperly built.

If you are building on an area of good solid rock, or on good clean sand (which will support 3,000 pounds of dead weight per square foot), you have no worry about things going out of plumb.

But when you are building on average ground where conditions are not so good for supporting weight, you have to provide ample footings for anything you expect to have stay upright and plumb. The softer the ground and the worse the water conditions, the more ample must the footings be.

One of the cardinal rules for good building is that foundation walls must be built upon a footing which is as deep as the wall is thick and twice the width of the wall. In other words, if you are building an 8-inch-thick wall, the footing beneath it must be 8 inches deep and 16 inches wide.

At this particular time, when almost any kind of ground is being used for building purposes, it is particularly necessary that footings be wide enough and deep enough.

Many people are building their own foundations and then buying a pre-cut house to erect above it. They will do well to make sure of their footings.

Shippingport Plans Pushed

Beaver Group, Legislative Members Discuss Bridge

A delegation of about 20, headed by members of the Beaver County Civic Association, met Saturday in Beaver with state representatives to discuss a Shippingport bridge construction priority over one at Vanport.

The group conferred with State Sen. John Carl Miller and Assemblymen Charles D. Stone and William Kovolenko in the assembly room at the Courthouse. The delegation was headed by James Russell of Shippingport, chairman of the special committee for the bridge priority supported by the association.

William Littell, president of the association, reported that the meeting was "useful" after a broad discussion of the whole situation. He said the association feels it will get help from the elected state officials.

Littell said also that a group of about eight Thursday visited the office of Beaver County Commissioner Sam McCune and said the association feels encouraged after that meeting.

The same day, other public officials in the Courthouse were visited. The group discussed matters with William R. Moore, executive secretary of the Beaver County Planning and Zoning committee, and said it will give a formal invitation sometime for the committee to visit Southern Beaver County, Littell said. He said the committee would be given a "lively but courteous" reception.

Littell said the association is planning a meeting within the next week with Commissioner Gordon Camp on his return from Florida.

He said a meeting called for Aug. 5 with commissioners, others, and Park H. Martin, secretary of state highways, has been called off because Martin would be unable to attend then. This meeting, to decide which of the two bridges should be built first, may be held late in August, Littell said.

Death Claims Third Man In Beaver Crash

The three-car accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike early Saturday some seven miles east of the Beaver Valley Interchange claimed its third victim Saturday at 8:45 p. m. at the Beaver Falls Providence Hospital, authorities said.

He was Wallace L. Downer, 59, believed to be of New York and who was a passenger in the car of Anthony R. Morelli, 45, of New York City. Morelli was killed, along with Harry McCready, 62, of Mars, Pa., when their cars collided head on.

Four members of a Canton family, in a third car, received minor injuries in the accident.

Autoist Fined; 5 Also Forfeit

One motorist was fined and five others forfeited bonds today in Municipal Court.

Roy Edward Ammon Jr., 314 Broadway, Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp on a charge of driving on a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed driver. Ammon was cited Saturday on W. 8th St., police said.

Clara B. Bobalik, 505 17th St., Wellsville; Peggy J. Chapman of Steubenville and Lambrose L. Fellouzis, 504 College St., forfeited $16 bonds each on speeding charges. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol late Saturday night on Route 7.

James Harvey Gamble of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, forfeited $16 for using an illegal muffler Saturday afternoon on W. 8th St.

Robert E. Huffman of Youngstown also forfeited $16 for passing at an intersection on Route 30. He was arrested Thursday by the State Highway Patrol.

A hearing for Robert Burson of the River Rd. on a reckless driving charge was continued today until Aug. 4 at 9:30 a. m. The motorcyclist was arrested July 20 after passing two cars at an intersection and swerving to avoid oncoming traffic. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned Wednesday and his hearing was continued until today.

2 Motorists Cited In Route 30 Crashes

Two motorists were cited in separate collisions on Route 30 south of Lisbon early Sunday morning, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Joseph Young, 22, of Mogadore figured in a three-car crash about 2.5 miles south of Lisbon yesterday at 6 a. m.

Officers said Young, headed South, started to pass a pickup truck driven by John Stanford, 49, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., but forced an oncoming car driven by David Schoff, 45, of Pittsburgh off the road and Young's car then hit the truck. Schoff's car hit guardrails.

Young was charged with passing without the assured clear distance. No one was injured and damage was moderate.

John Dowdle, 45, of Columbiana was arrested after his car rammed one driven by Robert Lyles, 30, of Elizabeth, Pa., a half mile south of Lisbon at 3 a. m. yesterday.

Officers said Dowdle hit the rear of the other car in thick fog. Damage was minor, and Dowdle was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

19 Treated At Hospital After Weekend Accidents

An East End boy, hurt in a fall from a bicycle Sunday night, was admitted to City Hospital where 18 adults and youngsters were treated following weekend mishaps.

Robert Morris, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Morris, 1617 Alpha St., is in "fair" condition with concussion, scalp bruises and minor scratches suffered in a fall from his bike which he was riding on the Thorofare Market parking lot yesterday afternoon.

Wilbur Weekley, 29, of New Cumberland R. D. 1, a sand dredge employe of the Dravo Corp., was detained at the hospital Sunday after he suffered scalds of the chest and right hand while washing down boilers on the dredge. He was released later.

John Crow, 41, of McClain Rd., Wellsville, a Crucible Steel Co. locomotive maintenance man, was treated yesterday for an injury to the left leg suffered in a fall from a scaffold on to a piece of pipe.

In a fall from a sliding board at Lake Marwin, James Adkins, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Adkins, 409 Ohio Ave., Midland, received abrasions of the right side of the head yesterday.

Mrs. Goldie Hawksworth of Wellsville R. D. 1 received a possible fracture of the left arm in a fall at home.

In a fall down cellar steps, Blair Lockhart, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lockhart of 5th Ave., LaCroft, received a possible fractured left foot.

Jerry Bisco, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bisco of Glenmoor, stepped on a nail, receiving a puncture wound of the foot.

Randy McAvoy, 1, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McAvoy of Chester R. D., was treated yesterday for a cut of the head received in a fall against a bed.

Darlene Hughes, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hughes of Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, was treated Saturday night for a leg injury suffered while playing at home with her brother.

Delse Sias, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sias of Maple Dr., Calcutta, suffered a cut of the left leg when he dropped a knife while playing Saturday.

In a fall on bricks at play, Theresa Sanford, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sanford of R. D. 2, received a cut of the left leg.

Luther Jackson, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jackson of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, was treated for an injury to the large toe after a brick dropped on his foot.

Jon Lombard, 18, of Georgetown was treated Saturday night for lacerations of the elbow and left thigh suffered when he shoved against a glass door while at work at the Waterford Park race track, and the door stuck, causing the glass to break.

Robert Trainer of Park Way Ext. was treated for a foot wound received from a nail.

Janet Lee Johnston, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston, 1129 Vine St., received a wound over the right eye when bitten by a dog while at a birthday party in Calcutta.

Shirley Allison, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Allison of Monaca St., received a cut of the right knee in a fall from a bicycle.

Donald Smith, 32, of Gardendale suffered a finger injury while working on an auto at home Saturday.

James Montgomery, 32, of Burford St. received a cut of the left hand on a power mower Saturday.

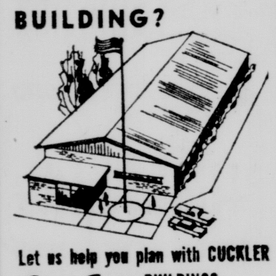

Carl Nelson, 41, of Irondale was treated for a cut of a finger received on an electric pump at home.

Boosters At Palestine Begin Member Drive

EAST PALESTINE — A two-week membership drive of the Boosters Club was begun today among business, professional and industrial men George Morris, general chairman, announced.

A communitywide house-to-house drive is slated later, he said. Funds collected are used by the club for school athletic needs and community projects such as the summer athletic program at the City Park.

Deaths and Funerals

Vet Of War II Dies Suddenly

Lewis Tribett, 43, of 418 N. 5th St., Toronto, died suddenly early Sunday morning after becoming ill in a Wellsville taxi on W. 4th St. Ext. He was a veteran of World War II.

Nevil Harry Williams, the cab driver, notified police at 1:56 a. m. and Dr. Roy A. Costello, deputy Columbiana County coroner, ruled death was due to natural causes.

Mr. Tribett, an employe of the Berman Lumber Co., was born in Stratton May 22, 1916, the son of the late Letha and James Tribett. He lived in the Toronto vicinity virtually his entire life and attended the Methodist Church there.

He is survivied by two daughters, Miss Julia Marie Tribett and Carol Ann Tribett; two sons, Lewis Tribett and Gerald Tribett; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Wright of Salineville; a brother, Edwin Tribett; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Wright of Salineville; a brother, Edwin Tribett of Empire, and grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Barber of Stratton.

Services will be held Wednesday at 11 a. m. at the Clarke Funeral Home in Toronto by the Rev. Charles Dailey of the Toronto Methodist Church. Burial will be in Sugar Grove Cemetery near Empire.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p. m. today.

Father Of City Man Dies In Avalon At 83

Funeral services will be held Wednesday for James Gayley Shaw, 83, retired newspaper writer and publisher and prominent Western Pennsylvania civic figure, who died Sunday at his home in Avalon, Pa., after a long illness.

He was the father of George A. Shaw, advertising manager of The Review.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. at the McDonald Funeral Home in Avalon, with burial in Lakewood Memorial Cemetery at Dorseyville. Friends may call at the funeral home, 529 California Ave., Avalon, tonight and Tuesday night from 7 to 9.

Mr. Shaw, a native of Clarion County, Pa., spent most of his newspaper career as a reporter, editor and publisher in West Virginia and Pittsburgh, entering the field when a boy of 13 as a "printer's devil" on the Moundsville (W. Va.) Echo, weekly newspaper published by his father.

He became a reporter on the Wheeling News in 1898 and in 1905 became publisher of the Clarksburg (W.Va.) Daily News, selling it in 1910. He joined the Pittsburgh Post in 1917, becoming automobile editor, and then purchased the Northside Ledger in Pittsburgh in 1935, publishing it until 1940.

Long active in furthering civic projects, he was manager of the campaign for the bond issue that built Allegheny County Airport and Pittsburgh's North and South Parks. He was identified with the promotion of many bridge and highway improvements.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Honor Bright West Shaw; four other sons, two sisters and eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Louis Lombardi

Services for Mrs. Mary Jo Monte Lombardi of Lincoln, Neb., wife of Louis Lombardi and a former resident of Wellsville, will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Wellsville. Burial will be in St. Elizabeth Cemetery.

She died Friday in a hospital at Lincoln.

Friends may call at the MacLean Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon and night.

Mrs. Alice Gilbert

Services for Mrs. Alice Winkle Gilbert, 606 W. 9th St., who died Saturday at her home, will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home.

The Rev. Marc Anton Nocerino, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, will officate.

Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery in Wellsville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight. The Eastern Star Chapter will hold services tonight at 7 at the funeral home.

Infant Meehan

Services for James Patrick Meehan, son of John F. Meehan and Margaret Michels Meehan of Cleveland, were to be held this afternoon at 3 at the Dawson Funeral Home.

Fr. Anthony Esposito, an assistant pastor at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

The infant, who was born in Cleveland, died suddenly Sunday night at 7:30 at the home of his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Michels, 329 Thompson Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Meehan are visiting Dr. and Mrs. Michels.

Besides the parents and maternal grandparents, the child leaves a sister, Ann Meehan, and a brother, John M. Meehan, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Frank J. Meehan of Holyoke, Mass.

John G. Mihaiu

John G. Mihaiu, a patient at the Fox Nursing Home at Chester since 1954, died Saturday at 4:30 p. m. at City Hospital. He was 75.

He was born in Romania Jan. 6, 1884, and came to America in 1904. He had resided in the Weirton area since 1912.

He leaves a brother, Alexander Mihaiu and a sister, Miss Anna Mihaiu, both in Romania.

Services will be held Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Fields Funeral Home at New Cumberland. Burial will be in Flats Cemetery at Pughtown.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday after 4 p. m.

William R. Grimes

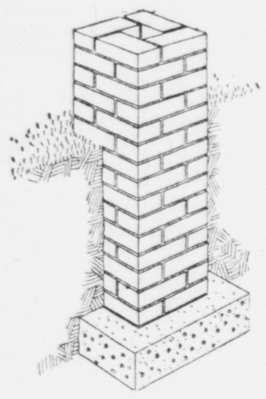

NEW CUMBERLAND — Services for William Rainy Grimes of R. D., who died Saturday at the Weirton General Hospital, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Fields Funeral Home.

The Rev. Allen F. Fields of the Christian Church will officiate.

Burial will be in Chapel Hill Memorial Gardens at Weirton.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Proper Footing Is Key To Masonry Structure

No doubt you often have seen brick or stone piers at the entrance to a country house which have taken on a lopsided slant.

You also have seen cellar walls with a large crack running from top to bottom or buildings which have been condemned because of badly-leaning walls. All of these conditions result from the fact that the footings, the lowest part of any structure, were inadequate or improperly built.

If you are building on an area of good solid rock, or on good clean sand (which will support 3,000 pounds of dead weight per square foot), you have no worry about things going out of plumb.

But when you are building on average ground where conditions are not so good for supporting weight, you have to provide ample footings for anything you expect to have stay upright and plumb. The softer the ground and the worse the water conditions, the more ample must the footings be.

One of the cardinal rules for good building is that foundation walls must be built upon a footing which is as deep as the wall is thick and twice the width of the wall. In other words, if you are building an 8-inch-thick wall, the footing beneath it must be 8 inches deep and 16 inches wide.

At this particular time, when almost any kind of ground is being used for building purposes, it is particularly necessary that footings be wide enough and deep enough.

Many people are building their own foundations and then buying a pre-cut house to erect above it. They will do well to make sure of their footings.

Shippingport Plans Pushed

Beaver Group, Legislative Members Discuss Bridge

A delegation of about 20, headed by members of the Beaver County Civic Association, met Saturday in Beaver with state representatives to discuss a Shippingport bridge construction priority over one at Vanport.

The group conferred with State Sen. John Carl Miller and Assemblymen Charles D. Stone and William Kovolenko in the assembly room at the Courthouse. The delegation was headed by James Russell of Shippingport, chairman of the special committee for the bridge priority supported by the association.

William Littell, president of the association, reported that the meeting was "useful" after a broad discussion of the whole situation. He said the association feels it will get help from the elected state officials.

Littell said also that a group of about eight Thursday visited the office of Beaver County Commissioner Sam McCune and said the association feels encouraged after that meeting.

The same day, other public officials in the Courthouse were visited. The group discussed matters with William R. Moore, executive secretary of the Beaver County Planning and Zoning committee, and said it will give a formal invitation sometime for the committee to visit Southern Beaver County, Littell said. He said the committee would be given a "lively but courteous" reception.

Littell said the association is planning a meeting within the next week with Commissioner Gordon Camp on his return from Florida.

He said a meeting called for Aug. 5 with commissioners, others, and Park H. Martin, secretary of state highways, has been called off because Martin would be unable to attend then. This meeting, to decide which of the two bridges should be built first, may be held late in August, Littell said.

Werner said he stopped for passengers when his car was struck by a Riley Ave. motorist, whose name was not given to police.

Death Claims Third Man In Beaver Crash

The three-car accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike early Saturday some seven miles east of the Beaver Valley Interchange claimed its third victim Saturday at 8:45 p. m. at the Beaver Falls Providence Hospital, authorities said.

He was Wallace L. Downer, 59, believed to be of New York and who was a passenger in the car of Anthony R. Morelli, 45, of New York City. Morelli was killed, along with Harry McCready, 62, of Mars, Pa., when their cars collided head on.

Four members of a Canton family, in a third car, received minor injuries in the accident.

Autoist Fined; 5 Also Forfeit

One motorist was fined and five others forfeited bonds today in Municipal Court.

Roy Edward Ammon Jr., 314 Broadway, Wellsville, was fined $25 and costs by Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp on a charge of driving on a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed driver. Ammon was cited Saturday on W. 8th St., police said.

Clara B. Bobalik, 505 17th St., Wellsville; Peggy J. Chapman of Steubenville and Lambrose L. Fellouzis, 504 College St., forfeited $16 bonds each on speeding charges. All were cited by the State Highway Patrol late Saturday night on Route 7.

James Harvey Gamble of 3rd Ave., LaCroft, forfeited $16 for using an illegal muffler Saturday afternoon on W. 8th St.

Robert E. Huffman of Youngstown also forfeited $16 for passing at an intersection on Route 30. He was arrested Thursday by the State Highway Patrol.

A hearing for Robert Burson of the River Rd. on a reckless driving charge was continued today until Aug. 4 at 9:30 a. m. The motorcyclist was arrested July 20 after passing two cars at an intersection and swerving to avoid oncoming traffic. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned Wednesday and his hearing was continued until today.

2 Motorists Cited In Route 30 Crashes

Two motorists were cited in separate collisions on Route 30 south of Lisbon early Sunday morning, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Joseph Young, 22, of Mogadore figured in a three-car crash about 2.5 miles south of Lisbon yesterday at 6 a. m.

Officers said Young, headed South, started to pass a pickup truck driven by John Stanford, 49, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., but forced an oncoming car driven by David Schoff, 45, of Pittsburgh off the road and Young's car then hit the truck. Schoff's car hit guardrails.

Young was charged with passing without the assured clear distance. No one was injured and damage was moderate.

John Dowdle, 45, of Columbiana was arrested after his car rammed one driven by Robert Lyles, 30, of Elizabeth, Pa., a half mile south of Lisbon at 3 a. m. yesterday.

Officers said Dowdle hit the rear of the other car in thick fog. Damage was minor, and Dowdle was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Levenson, The Laughing Philosopher

"How are you all at home?" Sam Levenson greeted his television audience at home the other day. "Taking care of yourself? Being able to laugh at yourself is one of the great blessings of democracy. The first thing a dictator does after taking over a country is to go after the comedians." And Mr. Levenson proceeded to laugh at himself inordinately. Mr. Levenson habitually laughs at his own jokes, a mannerism some folks find engaging and others find thoroughly annoying.

John Crosby

The Levenson show, which has taken over the Arthur Godfrey spo on daytime television, is one of the few surviving attempts at literacy on the daytime air and I wish it well. It fluctuates rather wildly from very good to rather ordinary and disjointed, though I've never seen a bad one.

-:-

THE PARTICULAR show I quoted from was a very good one indeed.

Mr. Levenson has taken custody of the American school as his special province for humor and philosophy and this show is set in a mock schoolroom with an audience of children who occasionally are asked to join in the songs.

Mr. Levenson is discovered on a stool before a blackboard and he launches into opening remarks which sometimes, but not always, amount to an opening monologue.

This is a very tough chore, five days a week, and Mr. Levenson does remarkably well at it.

I was especially taken by one bit in which he declared:

"If you're a real American, you've got tired blood, greasy valves and a sluggish liver. Either you've got dried skin or undernourished skin. You've got jangled nerves or you've got acid indigestion. And all this is brought to you by 'Life Can Be Beautiful.'"

Actually there was quite a lot more and it was better than that, but that's as much as I could get down.

AS YOU CAN SEE, that's pretty upper-level comment and not at all easy to come up with every day.

The other day he was reading bits from the Wall Street Journal which were full of spoofs like: "Stop worrying about taxes. Buy our stocks and you'll always be in a lower bracket."

Another time I heard him do a funny bit about kids sucking their thumbs and I find on my notes: "How long can he keep this up?" The answer is: Not every day, but often enough.

After the opening bit come the guests, and these fluctuate pretty wildly in general interest, too, as might be expected on a daily show. Lately Mr. Levenson has been cribbing from Art Linkletter's book and having children on the program.

Their uninhibited comments can be just wonderful. (Mr. Linkletter has made virtually a whole new career out of children.)

-:-

THE OTHER DAY he had on a little girl called Amy who told him she didn't like either her sister or baths more or less in that order.

"Every time we take a bath, she pinches me. I don't like to take any baths."

"We used to take baths eight in a tub," said Mr. Levenson, "and we didn't even have a stopper. We just put a brother there."

Right here I'd like to tell Mr. Levenson that trying to top children is terriby unwise and extremely unprofitable. Just laugh at 'em, Mr. L!

There has been one child on every day recently and after him come grown-up guests who sometimes have trouble following the child.

The other day it was Amy Vanderbilt, the etiquette expert, a rolypoly, twinkling doll whose motto on manners seems to be to take it easy.

Most anything goes with Miss Vanderbilt. One letter asked her whether "yeah" wasn't a pretty bad substitute for "yes" and she said: "Yeah." (I say "ueah," too, Miss Vanderbilt, a leftover from a Milwaukee childhood with a lot of Germans out there.)

MR. LEVENSON asked Miss Vanderbilt what one should do with the olive pits and just as she answered my telephone rang. Now I'll never know. (I've been slipping them under the rug—but that can't be right.)

If I have any criticism of Mr. Levenson's show it's that he laughs a little too much at his own stuff and that he would be a more full-bodied TV personality if he cut the chuckling down to about half, which would still leave quit a lot.

I hasten to add that I don't want to get a reputation as a sourpuss, but enough is enough. Last Sunday I saw Janet Blair deliver a serious song in a serious way (she used to deliver even the bluest of blues with a wide grin all over her) and it added a whole new dimension to her charm.

Sales Tax Agents Due In City And Wellsville

State sales tax agents will be stationed in East Liverpool and Wellsville the balance of the week to aid vendors in preparing reports for the first six months of 1959.

The assistance will be available Tuesday at Wellsville City Hall and Wednesday through Friday at East Liverpool City Hall.

When filing a return, vendors were asked to produce a copy of the L-59 sales tax return, along with a copy of their last report and a record of their sales and prepaid receipts purchased during the period for which the return is filed. Covering the period Jan. 1-June 30, the reports are due by July 31.

The French language, followed by English, ranks first in the world in the possession of the richest slang vocabulary.

Two Fugitives Given Hearing For Kidnaping

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two escaped convicts who abducted an elderly Virginia man and held him captive for three days were summoned for a hearing today before U. S. Commissioner Fred E. Obley.

The convicts are James E. Hall, 37, of Rocky Mount, Va., and Connie E. Plott, 27, of Severn, Md.

A tip from a Washington, Pa., housewife who recognized the convicts from posters led to their arrest Saturday night.

Mrs. Robert Beard spotted the two men walking down a street in the outskirts of Washington and telephoned police. The men, both unarmed, surrendered meekly.

Their arrest ended a search which started shortly after they freed Peter M. Nielson, 79, of McLean, Va., in the outskirts of the city.

Neilson, who once tailored suits for former president Harry S. Truman, drove his car into a service station near Washington and blurted out:

"Please help me."

The kidnap victim, still clad in his pajamas, told the attendant he had been held hostage for three days. He was tired but otherwise unharmed.

Nielson said the two came to his home Thursday and forced him at gunpoint to accompany them in his car. Early Saturday, they stopped near Washington and one of them told him:

"You take it from here, dad."

Both Hall, a convicted slayer, and Plott, a convicted forger, had escaped from a road gang Tuesday in Fairfax County, not far from Nielson's home.

Nielson returned home with a daughter.

General's Flag Gone, Marines Must Suffer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 1,200 Leathernecks at the U.S. Marine Corps recruit depot are confined to quarters. Somebody stole the flag of Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, commandant of the Marine Corps.

Pate arrived Saturday on an inspection tour. When the color guard went to lower his personal flag—four white stars on a red field—Sunday night, it was missing.

Try fringed terry-cloth guest towels in pastel shades as napkins for the children. They are extra large, require no ironing and not only can you select colors that harmonize with your china but wear indefinitely.

Biggest Rocket Stand To Be 8 Stories High

AZUSA, Calif. (AP)—A rocket test stand eight stories high and described as the free world's largest is slated for construction at Edwards Air Force Base late this year.

Initial plans call for a stand to handle two 1,500,000-pound thrust liquid-rocket engines. Later it will be extended to support four such engines having a total thrust potential of six million pounds.

Emperor Hirohito of Japan made a public statement in 1946 denying his claim to divinity.

Channel 11's "Destination Mars" will feature the subject, "Where Can We Go In Outer Space?" this Saturday, August 1, at 1 p. m.

Ray Stewart will host the thirty-minute public service show which is designed to acquaint viewers with man's future in outer space.

Cannonsburg Group Wins

The "Thompson Brotherhood Chorus" of Cannonsburg, Pa., walked off with top honors last week on Channel 11's "Summer Auditions" series.

The Cannonsburg group won a $50 United States Savings Bond plus the opportunity to appear later and compete for the "Summer Auditions" grand prize.

"Summer Auditions" is seen each Saturday at 2 p. m. over Channel 11 with Bill Cardille as host. The top non-professional acts in the entire Tri-State area are seen each Saturday.

Competing Saturday, July 25, were: Sandy Kopena, Donora, Pa.; Vicki and Larry Myers of East Liverpool, Ohio; James Fahey, Waynesburg, Pa.; Doris Traylor, Beaver, Pa.; Gary Thomas, Claridge, Pa.; Diana Peindl, New Kensington, Pa.; "The Savoys", Ambridge, Pa.; Carol Ann Holmes, Wolfdale, Pa.; and the "Jades" from McKees Rocks, Pa.

Don't Forget Romper Room Day!

You Romper Room mothers should mark a big "X" on your calendar Saturday, August 8. That's the big day all the kiddies will be guests at the Children's Zoo in Pittsburgh for a fun-filled "Romper Room Day".

Children under four years of age will be admitted free from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m. and Channel 11's Miss Jan will be on hand to greet each little visitor.

There's lots of free refreshments and twenty-five youngsters will win free train rides.

WIICy Picks!

WIICY's pick for Monday evening, July 27, is the always dramatic "Alcoa Theatre" production at 9:30 p. m. You'll see James Whitmore and Marilyn Erskine in "The Town Budget", the tension-packed story of two murderers on the loose in a small town!

Eddie Albert and Fay Wray are featured in the "David Niven Show" Tuesday, July 28, at 10 p. m. A ruthless steel magnate is asked by his former sweetheart to fulfill a vow he made more than 25 years previous!

NBC star Steve Allen is the subject for Ralph Edwards and his "This is Your Life" feature on Wednesday, July 29, at 10 p. m. and Thursday's exciting "Badge 714" at 7:30 p. m. finds Jack Webb and Ben Alexander investigating the "Big Will".

Lee Marvin of "M-Squad" fame steps into another dramatic role on Friday, July 31, to star in "Colgate Western Theatre" at 9:30 p. m. It's the story of a rancher who discovers a plot to turn a young boy against his own mother.

Paper Official Slain By Wife

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — The business manager of the Ashtabula (Ohio) Star-Beacon was shot to death in his home here Sunday night. Police said his wife admitted the shooting.

Earl C. Hankins, 54, was shot once in the back, with a .32 caliber revolver as he was removing his shoes in the basement after mowing the lawn.

Police said his wife, Arleta, 49, gave no motive. She was held without charge in the Ashtabula County jail at Jefferson.

Police said she told them, "All I meant to do was scare him."

Coroner C. C. Roller and County Prosecutor Calvin Hutchins assisted in investigating but would give no details. Roller said he would not comment until he had finished his autopsy and Hutchins said he would make no statement while the investigation was pending.

Hankins and his wife, who were married 28 years ago, have a son, David, 25, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hankins was a native of Conneaut. He started to work for the Saar-Beacon shortly after he was graduated from high school here. He later was managing editor of the Conneaut News-Herald and returned to the Ashtabula paper seven years ago as business manager.

Handicapped Boy Wounds Parents

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — A handicapped 13-year-old boy was held for psychiatric examination today after he shot his father and mother with a high-powered rifle.

Gordon Ellis, a hare-lipped cripple with a cleft palate, told officers he used a 30-30 rifle on his sleeping parents because:

His father had "bawled him out" for failing to run an errand,

His parents had refused to buy him a motor scooter, and

They wouldn't let him go to his grandmother's home to watch television.

His father, Ted Ellis, and mother, Charlotte, lay in Tucumcari General Hospital in serious condition. The father was shot in the cheek and left shoulder, Mrs. Ellis in the right shoulder and hip.

The first question young Ellis asked officers when they arrived near midnight Saturday after the shooting was reported was: "Do you think I'll get a spanking?"

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

Levenson, The Laughing Philosopher

"How are you all at home?" Sam Levenson greeted his television audience at home the other day. "Taking care of yourself? Being able to laugh at yourself is one of the great blessings of democracy. The first thing a dictator does after taking over a country is to go after the comedians." And Mr. Levenson proceeded to laugh at himself inordinately. Mr. Levenson habitually laughs at his own jokes, a mannerism some folks find engaging and others find thoroughly annoying.

John Crosby

The Levenson show, which has taken over the Arthur Godfrey spo on daytime television, is one of the few surviving attempts at literacy on the daytime air and I wish it well. It fluctuates rather wildly from very good to rather ordinary and disjointed, though I've never seen a bad one.

-:-

THE PARTICULAR show I quoted from was a very good one indeed.

Mr. Levenson has taken custody of the American school as his special province for humor and philosophy and this show is set in a mock schoolroom with an audience of children who occasionally are asked to join in the songs.

Mr. Levenson is discovered on a stool before a blackboard and he launches into opening remarks which sometimes, but not always, amount to an opening monologue.

This is a very tough chore, five days a week, and Mr. Levenson does remarkably well at it.

I was especially taken by one bit in which he declared:

"If you're a real American, you've got tired blood, greasy valves and a sluggish liver. Either you've got dried skin or undernourished skin. You've got jangled nerves or you've got acid indigestion. And all this is brought to you by 'Life Can Be Beautiful.' "

Actually there was quite a lot more and it was better than that, but that's as much as I could get down.

-:-

AS YOU CAN SEE, that's pretty upper-level comment and not at all easy to come up with every day.

The other day he was reading bits from the Wall Street Journal which were full of spoofs like: "Stop worrying about taxes. Buy our stocks and you'll always be in a lower bracket."

Another time I heard him do a funny bit about kids sucking their thumbs and I find on my notes: "How long can he keep this up?" The answer is: Not every day, but often enough.

After the opening bit come the guests, and these fluctuate pretty wildly in general interest, too, as might be expected on a daily show. Lately Mr. Levenson has been cribbing from Art Linkletter's book and having children on the program.

Their uninhibited comments can be just wonderful. (Mr. Linkletter has made virtually a whole new career out of children.)

-:-

THE OTHER DAY he had on a little girl called Amy who told him she didn't like either her sister or baths more or less in that order.

"Every time we take a bath, she pinches me. I don't like to take any baths."

"We used to take baths eight in a tub," said Mr. Levenson, "and we didn't even have a stopper. We just put a brother there."

Right here I'd like to tell Mr. Levenson that trying to top children is terriby unwise and extremely unprofitable. Just laugh at 'em, Mr. L!

There has been one child on every day recently and after him come grown-up guests who sometimes have trouble following the child.

The other day it was Amy Vanderbilt, the etiquette expert, a rolypoly, twinkling doll whose motto on manners seems to be to take it easy.

Most anything goes with Miss Vanderbilt. One letter asked her whether "yeah" wasn't a pretty bad substitute for "yes" and she said: "Yeah." (I say "ueah," too, Miss Vanderbilt, a leftover from a Milwaukee childhood with a lot of Germans out there.)

MR. LEVENSON asked Miss Vanderbilt what one should do with the olive pits and just as she answered my telephone rang. Now I'll never know. (I've been slipping them under the rug—but that can't be right.)

If I have any criticism of Mr. Levenson's show it's that he laughs a little too much at his own stuff and that he would be a more full-bodied TV personality if he cut the chuckling down to about half, which would still leave quit a lot.

I hasten to add that I don't want to get a reputation as a sourpuss, but enough is enough. Last Sunday I saw Janet Blair deliver a serious song in a serious way (she used to deliver even the bluest of blues with a wide grin all over her) and it added a whole new dimension to her charm.

Sales Tax Agents Due In City And Wellsville

State sales tax agents will be stationed in East Liverpool and Wellsville the balance of the week to aid vendors in preparing reports for the first six months of 1959.

The assistance will be available Tuesday at Wellsville City Hall and Wednesday through Friday at East Liverpool City Hall.

When filing a return, vendors were asked to produce a copy of the L-59 sales tax return, along with a copy of their last report and a record of their sales and prepaid receipts purchased during the period for which the return is filed. Covering the period Jan. 1-June 30, the reports are due by July 31.

The French language, followed by English, ranks first in the world in the possession of the richest slang vocabulary.

Two Fugitives Given Hearing For Kidnaping

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two escaped convicts who abducted an elderly Virginia man and held him captive for three days were summoned for a hearing today before U. S. Commissioner Fred E. Obley.

The convicts are James E. Hall, 37, of Rocky Mount, Va., and Connie E. Plott, 27, of Severn, Md.

A tip from a Washington, Pa., housewife who recognized the convicts from posters led to their arrest Saturday night.

Mrs. Robert Beard spotted the two men walking down a street in the outskirts of Washington and telephoned police. The men, both unarmed, surrendered meekly.

Their arrest ended a search which started shortly after they freed Peter M. Nielson, 79, of McLean, Va., in the outskirts of the city.

Neilson, who once tailored suits for former president Harry S. Truman, drove his car into a service station near Washington and blurted out:

"Please help me."

The kidnap victim, still clad in his pajamas, told the attendant he had been held hostage for three days. He was tired but otherwise unharmed.

Nielson said the two came to his home Thursday and forced him at gunpoint to accompany them in his car. Early Saturday, they stopped near Washington and one of them told him:

"You take it from here, dad."

Both Hall, a convicted slayer, and Plott, a convicted forger, had escaped from a road gang Tuesday in Fairfax County, not far from Nielson's home.

Nielson returned home with a daughter.

General's Flag Gone, Marines Must Suffer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The 1,200 Leathernecks at the U.S. Marine Corps recruit depot are confined to quarters. Somebody stole the flag of Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, commandant of the Marine Corps.

Pate arrived Saturday on an inspection tour. When the color guard went to lower his personal flag—four white stars on a red field—Sunday night, it was missing.

Try fringed terry-cloth guest towels in pastel shades as napkins for the children. They are extra large, require no ironing and not only can you select colors that harmonize with your china but wear indefinitely.

Biggest Rocket Stand To Be 8 Stories High

AZUSA, Calif. (AP)—A rocket test stand eight stories high and described as the free world's largest is slated for construction at Edwards Air Force Base late this year.

Initial plans call for a stand to handle two 1,500,000-pound thrust liquid-rocket engines. Later it will be extended to support four such engines having a total thrust potential of six million pounds.

Emperor Hirohito of Japan made a public statement in 1946 denying his claim to divinity.

Highlighting the "NCAA Game of the Week" this season for Tri-State area fans will be the November 7 game between Boston College and the University of Pittsburgh. The game will be played in Boston, Mass.

The complete schedule is as follows: September 19—L.S.U. vs. Rice; September 26 — Northwestern vs. Oklahoma; October 3—Texas vs. California; October 17 — Michigan State vs. Notre Dame; October 24 — Big Ten (to be selected); November 7—Boston College meets Pitt; November 21 — Big Ten (to be selected); November 26—Duke vs. North Carolina; November 28—Army vs. Navy; and December 5 — U.C.L.A. vs. Syracuse.

★ ★ ★

Channel 11's "Destination Mars" will feature the subject, "Where Can We Go In Outer Space?" this Saturday, August 1, at 1 p. m.

Ray Stewart will host the thirty - minute public service show which is designed to acquaint viewers with man's future in outer space.

Cannonsburg Group Wins

The "Thompson Brotherhood Chorus" of Cannonsburg, Pa., walked off with top honors last week on Channel 11's "Summer Auditions" series.

The Cannonsburg group won a $50 United States Savings Bond plus the opportunity to appear later and compete for the "Summer Auditions" grand prize.

"Summer Auditions" is seen each Saturday at 2 p. m. over Channel 11 with Bill Cardille as host. The top non-professional acts in the entire Tri-State area are seen each Saturday.

Competing Saturday, July 25, were: Sandy Kopena, Donora, Pa.; Vicki and Larry Myers of East Liverpool, Ohio; James Fahey, Waynesburg, Pa.; Doris Traylor, Beaver, Pa.; Gary Thomas, Claridge, Pa.; Diana Peindl, New Kensington, Pa.; "The Savoys", Ambridge, Pa.; Carol Ann Holmes, Wolfdale, Pa.; and the "Jades" from McKees Rocks, Pa.

Don't Forget Romper Room Day!

You Romper Room mothers should mark a big "X" on your calendar Saturday, August 8. That's the big day all the kiddies will be guests at the Children's Zoo in Pittsburgh for a fun-filled "Romper Room Day".

Children under four years of age will be admitted free from 2 p. m. until 4 p. m. and Channel 11's Miss Jan will be on hand to greet each little visitor.

There's lots of free refreshments and twenty-five youngsters will win free train rides.

WIICy Picks!

WIICY's pick for Monday evening, July 27, is the always dramatic "Alcoa Theatre" production at 9:30 p. m. You'll see James Whitmore and Marilyn Erskine in "The Town Budget", the tension-packed story of two murderers on the loose in a small town!

Eddie Albert and Fay Wray are featured in the "David Niven Show" Tuesday, July 28, at 10 p. m. A ruthless steel magnate is asked by his former sweetheart to fulfill a vow he made more than 25 years previous!

NBC star Steve Allen is the subject for Ralph Edwards and his "This is Your Life" feature on Wednesday, July 29, at 10 p. m. and Thursday's exciting "Badge 714" at 7:30 p. m. finds Jack Webb and Ben Alexander investigating the "Big Will".

Lee Marvin of "M-Squad" fame steps into another dramatic role on Friday, July 31, to star in "Colgate Western Theatre" at 9:30 p. m. It's the story of a rancher who discovers a plot to turn a young boy against his own mother.

Paper Official Slain By Wife

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — The business manager of the Ashtabula (Ohio) Star-Beacon was shot to death in his home here Sunday night. Police said his wife admitted the shooting.

Earl C. Hankins, 54, was shot once in the back, with a .32 caliber revolver as he was removing his shoes in the basement after mowing the lawn.

Police said his wife, Arleta, 49, gave no motive. She was held without charge in the Ashtabula County jail at Jefferson.

Police said she told them, "All I meant to do was scare him."

Coroner C. C. Roller and County Prosecutor Calvin Hutchins assisted in investigating but would give no details. Roller said he would not comment until he had finished his autopsy and Hutchins said he would make no statement while the investigation was pending.

Hankins and his wife, who were married 28 years ago, have a son, David, 25, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hankins was a native of Conneaut. He started to work for the Saar-Beacon shortly after he was graduated from high school here. He later was managing editor of the Conneaut News-Herald and returned to the Ashtabula paper seven years ago as business manager.

Handicapped Boy Wounds Parents

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — A handicapped 13-year-old boy was held for psychiatric examination today after he shot his father and mother with a high-powered rifle.

Gordon Ellis, a hare-lipped cripple with a cleft palate, told officers he used a 30-30 rifle on his sleeping parents because:

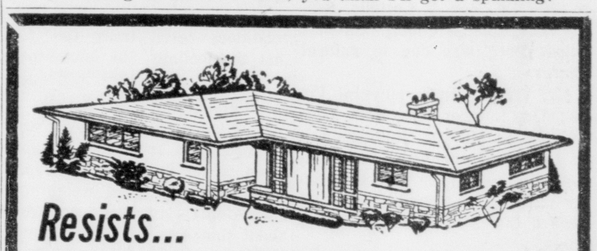

His father had "bawled him out" for failing to run an errand,

His parents had refused to buy him a motor scooter, and

They wouldn't let him go to his grandmother's home to watch television.

His father, Ted Ellis, and mother, Charlotte, lay in Tucumcari General Hospital in serious condition. The father was shot in the cheek and left shoulder, Mrs. Ellis in the right shoulder and hip.

The first question young Ellis asked officers when they arrived near midnight Saturday after the shooting was reported was: "Do you think I'll get a spanking?"

Truck Runs Wild At Beaver Falls; Three Are Hurt

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A trailer - truck slipped from its parking spot Saturday and raced down a steep hill, plowing into three cars and injuring three persons, none seriously.

The rig made its wild run only minutes before a veterans' parade started.

The driver, Raymond Stankevich of Pittsburgh, told police he parked the truck along a curb, then entered a store to make a telephone call.

By the time he came out, the rig had rolled down the hill. It came to rest against a building.

Two of the injured - Mrs. William Francis of Route 11, Ellwood City, and her 2-year-old daughter, Yvonne - were occupants of a car. The other, Edward Scott of Beaver Falls, was hit while sitting on a bench.

Only Scott was hospitalized.

$2,400 Theft Dampens Good-Will Visit To U.S.

DALLAS (AP)—The director of Mexico's tourist bureau has a complaint to make as a tourist in the United States.

Alfonso Garcia Gonzales, who headed a group of 50 Mexican business and professional leaders here on a good-will tour, told police Sunday a gold money clip with approximately $2,400 in U.S. and Mexican bills was taken from his suite at the Statler-Hilton Hotel as he slept.

People Hit For Making God Mere 'Substitute'

PHILADELPHIA — A New York psychiatrist, who once was a Lutheran pastor, told a meeting here that too many people try to make God a "substitute for a Blue Cross program."

"When you need Him," said Dr. Paul A. Qualben, "you call Him down. Then when you're finished with Him, you send Him back."

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I avoid the smoke odor that usually results when I use grease to make pancakes?

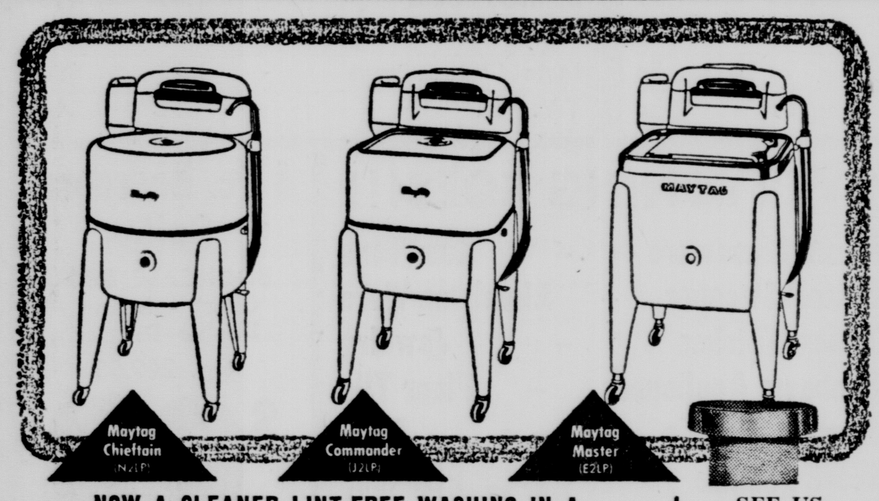

A. Rub the griddle with a small cloth bag filled with salt. No grease will then be needed. Or, fold a strip of bacon over two or three times and rub the surface with that to give the griddle a thin coating of grease.

Q. How can I eradicate poison ivy?

A. Mix three pounds of common table salt in one gallon of soapy water, and pour around the plants. Give two treatments.

Q. How can I wash oil paintings?

A. Use tepid soapsuds made of white soap. Rinse with clear water and then dry very thoroughly with a soft lintless cloth.

Truck Runs Wild At Beaver Falls; Three Are Hurt

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — A trailer - truck slipped from its parking spot Saturday and raced down a steep hill, plowing into three cars and injuring three persons, none seriously.

The rig made its wild run only minutes before a veterans' parade started.

The driver, Raymond Stankevich of Pittsburgh, told police he parked the truck along a curb, then entered a store to make a telephone call.

By the time he came out, the rig had rolled down the hill. It came to rest against a building.

Two of the injured - Mrs. William Francis of Route 11, Ellwood City, and her 2-year-old daughter, Yvonne - were occupants of a car. The other, Edward Scott of Beaver Falls, was hit while sitting on a bench.

Only Scott was hospitalized.

$2,400 Theft Dampens Good-Will Visit To U.S.

DALLAS (AP)—The director of Mexico's tourist bureau has a complaint to make as a tourist in the United States.

Alfonso Garcia Gonzales, who headed a group of 50 Mexican business and professional leaders here on a good-will tour, told police Sunday a gold money clip with approximately $2,400 in U.S. and Mexican bills was taken from his suite at the Statler-Hilton Hotel as he slept.

People Hit For Making God Mere 'Substitute'

PHILADELPHIA — A New York psychiatrist, who once was a Lutheran pastor, told a meeting here that too many people try to make God a "substitute for a Blue Cross program."

"When you need Him," said Dr. Paul A. Qualben, "you call Him down. Then when you're finished with Him, you send Him back."

How Can I? ? ?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I avoid the smoke odor that usually results when I use grease to make pancakes?

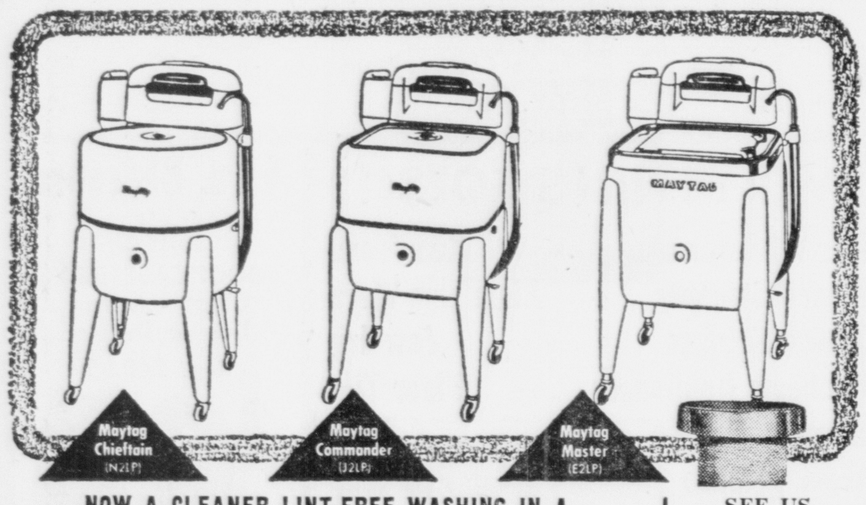

A. Rub the griddle with a small cloth bag filled with salt. No grease will then be needed. Or, fold a strip of bacon over two or three times and rub the surface with that to give the griddle a thin coating of grease.

Q. How can I eradicate poison ivy?

A. Mix three pounds of common table salt in one gallon of soapy water, and pour around the plants. Give two treatments.

Q. How can I wash oil paintings?

A. Use tepid soapsuds made of white soap. Rinse with clear water and then dry very thoroughly with a soft lintless cloth.

Education Will Cost State Half Billion In Two Years

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Education alone will cost the state nearly half a billion dollars in the next two years.

As usual, schools received the lion's share of general legislative appropriations—more than 45 per cent.

The administration figured the cost to Ohioans at $25.41 a year for 1,930,279 students, all but about 200,000 of them in public schools. Others attend state universities, schools for the blind and the deaf and vocational classes.

Before the 103rd General Assembly quit work Friday, members approved 413 million dollars in state subsidies for public schools. That was 49 million more than the 364 million appropriated two years ago.

Sponsors said 27 million dollars of the increase was for larger enrollments and 22 million to fortify the school program.

The foundation program guarantees an approved level of education in public schools.

School districts failing to raise enough revenue from property taxes to meet the foundation level receive additional aid from the state to meet that standard.

Districts with high tax duplicates, yielding revenue in excess of the foundation level, do not receive additional aid. But the non-additional aid districts receive a minimum guarantee, often called a flat distribution, from the state.

Starting Jan. 1, the new school law will increase the minimum guarantee for Ohio's 214 non-additional aid districts from $1,925 to $2,000 for each teacher unit of 30 pupils. Those districts include 31,000 units.

A total of 805 districts, embracing some 36,000 teacher units, will receive additional aid.

All the districts were assured of at least a $75 increase for each of their teacher units.

The new law will do these things for the additional aid districts:

Boost operating unit allowances for books, heat, light and similar expenses from $1,425 to $1,600.

Increase annual teacher salary allotments $500 to $650 to districts for pay raises according to local schedules.

Raise minimum teacher salaries between $500 and $700 a year, starting next year, although some districts may find it hard to meet that provision.

The new law tied a string to state grants, starting Jan. 1, 1961. After that date districts must levy at least 10 mills in property taxes to receive any state money under the foundation program.

The old law contained no mandatory millage requirement. But a 10-mill charge-off was used in figuring district subsidies. That meant the sum would have been raised from 10 mills was used in figuring grants to districts.

If that charge-off did not bring a district to the foundation level, the state made up the difference. But starting next year, the charge-off will be reckoned at 12½ mills and prevail until the mandatory 10-mill levy requirement goes into effect.

The average operating levy statewide now is 15.52 mills.

Under the new law 160 "grandfather clause" districts will disappear. The term "grandfather clause" applied to districts guaranteed at least as much additional state aid as they received in 1955. Those districts provide education only through the eighth grade. Their high school students attend schools in other districts on a tuition basis.

The Legislature enacted a number of new laws affecting schools.

One requires pupils entering public schools next fall to be immunized against polio, whooping cough, lockjaw, smallpox and diphtheria, unless parents object in writing.

Another permits levies up to 10 mills for an indefinite period and those over 10 mills to run for 10 years.

To make it easier for schools to raise operating funds, the Legislature provided for majority approval by voters of levies and bond issues at general elections.

Other enactments would:

Require a district receiving a school building through partial annexation to compensate the losing district for a proportionate value of the buildings, based on the number of children annexed.

Permit school boards to charge for driver training education and materials used in special classes.

Authorize the State Board of Education to encourage a voluntary apprenticeship training program to assure the state an adequate work force.

Provide funds for classes attended by children of migrant workers.

Permit teachers to serve on school library boards.

Increase from five to seven the number of trustees for Kent State University.

Nixon Is Holding His Own, Some Congressmen Feel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is proving himself a match for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the opinion of several Congress members.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said Nixon is "making the best of a very difficult and delicate situation" during his visit to Moscow.

"He is rolling with the punches thrown at him by Khrushchev," Mansfield said. "He is also sending back some good punches."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky), a former ambassador, said in a separate interview he thinks Nixon has matched Khrushchev in "directness and toughness" in their informal, caustic exchanges.

"Nixon is doing exactly what is needed," Cooper said. "He's talking the only kind of language Khrushchev can understand."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) said in a statement that Nixon's verbal encounter with Khrushchev was "a superb example of courage and intelligence."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill), the Senate GOP leader, told a television audience he thinks Nixon has helped both himself and the nation by his actions, and added: "Frankly, I'm quite proud of his performance in the Soviet Union."

Nixon and Khrushchev engaged in a series of spirited exchanges as they toured the American National Exposition which Nixon formally opened in Moscow Friday.

Because Nixon is all but an avowed candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential information, there has been a great deal of speculation in Congress about the political effect of his trip.

Mansfield, who is no Nixon rooter, said he thinks the vice president stands to benefit at home for the way he has conducted himself thus far in a decidedly cool and often hostile atmosphere.

Cleveland Shoots For Sixth In Row

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Six months ago Jim Perry and Bobby Locke were as widely unknown as Jim Baxes. To suggest that these young men would be largely responsible for boosting Cleveland into the American League lead would have been courting a trip to the booby hatch.

Perry was a good prospect who just had finished a fine season in Class A at Reading, Pa. Locke was in the Army or just getting out. Baxes, packing a little age, was just another infielder in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization.

Because Perry shut out Washington with two hits 9-0 and Baxes singled home the winning run in the 12th inning for a 4-3 victory in the second game on Sunday, the Indians are back on top in the American League. Locke pitched 11 of the 12 innings before giving way to a pinch hitter and Mudcat Grant, a 1958 rookie, picked up the decision.

Perry has all the earmarks of a real find for the Indians. Although his two-hitter was only his second start, it was his sixth victory. The fireballer from Jamesville, N.C. has been brilliant on relief. A pair of home runs by Woodie Held, who had four hits, eased his way.

Locke's effort was outstanding for a 25-year-old right-hander who was sent back to the minors from the Tucson, Ariz. spring training camp. He gave up only six hits in 11 innings.

Baxes, a 30-year-old "rookie", broke up that 12 inning game with a single off Pete Ramos after Minnie Minoso doubled.

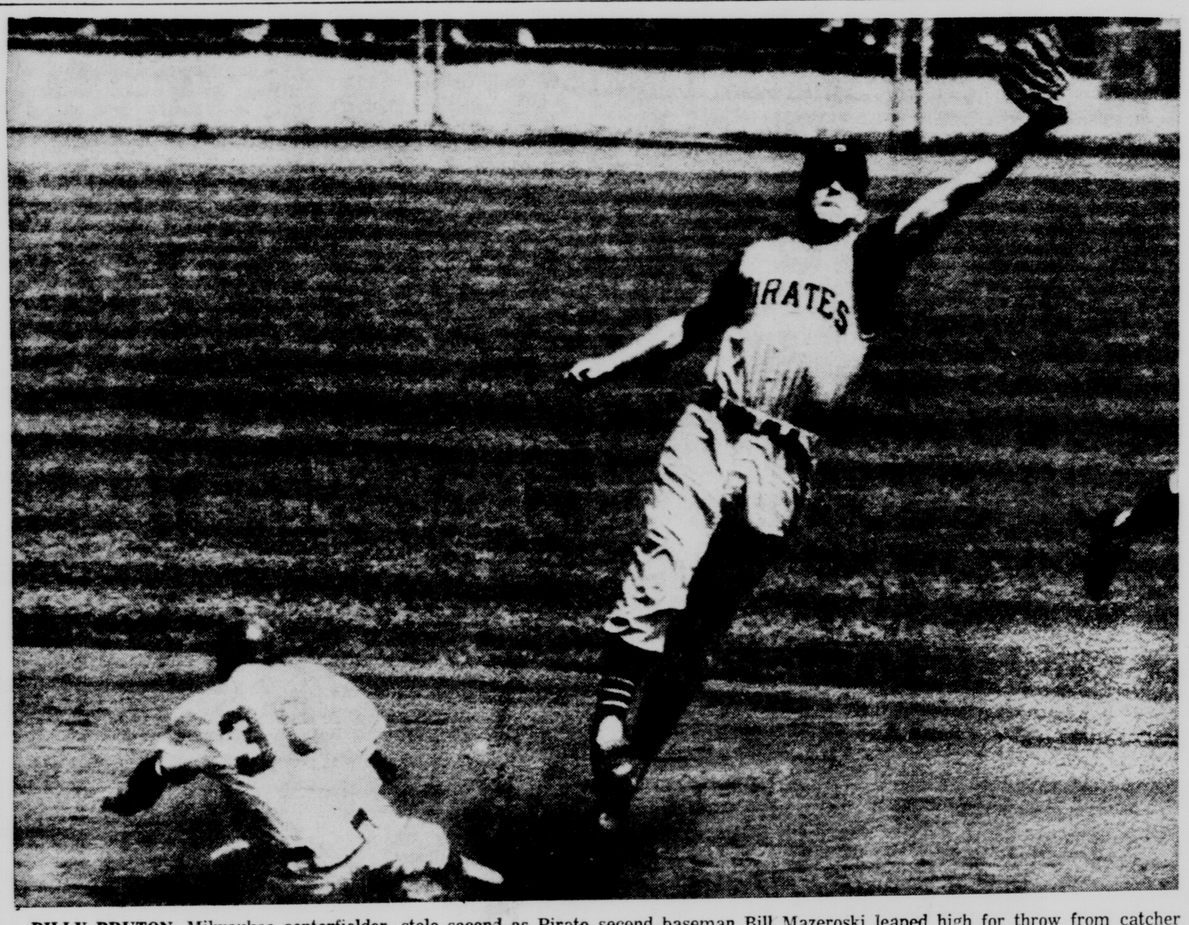

Baltimore dropped Chicago a half game behind Cleveland by winning the second game 4-0 on a combination of Milt Pappas' five-hit pitching and the hitting of Gene Woodling. The veteran outfielder had a three-run homer and drove in another run with a single. Chicago won the opener on Early Wynn's two-hitter, 4-1, and Al Smith's three-run inside-the-park home run.

Detroit dropped the New York Yankees nine games off the pace with a 1-0 victory behind Frank Lary, who has a career record of 20-5 against the Yanks. Neil Chrisley, who had one hit in 21 previous pinch-hitting appearances, lined a 10th inning pinch single off Ryne Duren for the only run.

Kansas City ran its winning streak to seven, the longest for the club since it moved from 5-4. It was the Red Sox' sixth straight defeat.

The second game at Cleveland was a toughie for Ramos. The Cuban gave up a three-run homer to Rocky Colavito (No. 30) in the first and then blanked the Indians for 10 innings. Baxes' winning single came with two out in the 12th.

Braves Get Back In Pennant Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

No Milwaukee burgher is hanging Fred Haney in effigy today. Nobody is whispering that Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette are over the hill. The Braves are up and at 'em again with a four-game winning streak.

Trailing the league-leading San Francisco Giants by only two games after a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee seems to have snapped out of its mid-summer slump.

Spahn's emphatic five-hitter in the 4-0 opener was the Braves' third straight shutout.

One unearned run in the fourth inning of the second game finally snapped a string of 30 2-3 scoreless innings for Pittsburgh but it didn't help much. They still lost 2-1 to Bob Buhl, making his first start since June 19 after a siege of arm trouble.

Spahn's 13th victory, the 259th of his long career, was impressive. Buhl tired after seven innings and Don McMahon finished up with two hitless innings.

The Milwaukee attack still sputtered and stalled. They had only six hits in the opener while handing Bob Friend his 13th defeat. One was Johnny Logan's 12th homer. They had only five hits in the second but one was Joe Adcock's 11th homer.

Bob Anderson pulled San Francisco back a little closer to the pack as he pitched the Chicago Cubs into fourth place with a 7-3 victory. The Giants' defeat and Los Angeles' 8-2 decision over St. Louis sliced San Francisco's lead to 1½ games.

Cincinnati snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak in the first game 4-2 but Gene Conley got the Phils an even break with a 6-3 triumph in the second game when Richie Ashburn led a 14-hit Phil attack.

Anderson grew stronger as the game progressed at San Francisco while the Cubs knocked out Mike McCormick in the fifth. Ernie Banks' 27th homer with Art Schult on base helped Chicago get off to an early lead. Willie Mays hit No. 17 for the Giants.

Don Drysdale drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and held St. Louis to seven hits while winning his 13th for the Dodgers. The smallest Sunday crowd of the year at the Coliseum, 14,453, saw the Dodgers break out of a hitting slump with 15 hits including homers by Drysdale and Charlie Neal.

Joe Gordon Elated Over Perry's 2-Hit Shutout

CLEVELAND (AP) — His two-hit shutout Sunday a welcome surprise, 22-year-old Jim Perry has earned himself a starting spot in the Cleveland Indians' pitching rotation.

Manager Joe Gordon was elated by Perry's 9-0 victory over the Washington Senators in the first game of a doubleheader.

"He made it look easy out there," Gordon remarked. "That was a masterful show."

The only hits off the slim right-hander were an infield single by Lenny Green, who beat out a bounder over the mound in the fourth inning, and a double by pinchhitter Julio Becquer in the ninth.

Perry gave most of the credit for his success to pitching coach Mel Harder and Cal McLish, ace of the Indians' staff.

"Mel has worked a lot with me on the curve," Perry said. "It breaks sharp now and is just as good as my fast ball."

Perry said he tried to follow McLish's pitching pattern. "I've followed all of the games Cal pitches carefully. You'd be surprised how much you can learn that way."

The 6-foot-4 rookie from Jamesville, N. C., has been the star of the Indians' bullpen corps most of the season. His shutout was only his second major league start. The other was April 24 against Detroit.

Perry has won five games in relief, saving several others. When he comes in from the bullpen, Perry usually fires hard, doesn't worry about pacing himself. He did the same Sunday and tamed the Senators in one hour and 57 minutes.

Field Narrowed To Seven Teams In Non-Pro Tourney At Midland

After the dust had cleared from the Crucible diamond Sunday, only seven teams out of a starting field of 22 remained in the Pennsylvania Non-Pro tournament now in its second week at Midland.

Five teams fell by the wayside over the weekend and only two squads remain undefeated.

Wampum and Freeport have posted four straight victories, but will meet headon Thursday at 8 p. m. The five other teams remaining are Ford City, Midland, Levittown, Fawn Township and Moses Service. These five teams have won three games in four tourney starts.

Freeport posted the big upset of the tournament with a surprising 10-5 win over the highly-regarded Levittown entry. In other games Sunday, Wampum nipped Moses Service, 4-2, Ford City eliminated Aliquippa J & L, 12-2, and Midland knocked Clarence from the running, 8-0.

Saturday, Ford City eliminated Louise, 5-1, Freeport sent Weirton to the sidelines, 12-2, and Levittown bounced Piney Fork from the running, 9-1. Clarence picked up a 4-3 win over Aliquippa, but dropped a 4-2 decision to Moses in its second game Saturday.

Midland received some fine pitching from Bob Sedlek, who allowed Clarence, last year's runnerup, only four hits. He fanned 12 batters in seven innings.

Fran Haus got Midland off on the right foot with a three-run homer in the second inning.

One game is slated tonight with Fawn Township and Moses meeting at 8. Wednesday Midland faces Ford City at 8 p. m. and Thursday Freeport and Wampum tangle.

Scores From Midland Non-Pro Tournament

Bullets, Not Baseballs, Fly While Havana Celebrates

HAVANA (AP) — The Havana Sugar Kings and the Rochester Red Wings are far from this trigger-happy city today, and the Red Wings, at least, couldn't be happier for there are no bullets flying around the ball parks.

The Cubans are in Montreal and the wings at home for the opening series Thursday night against the Royals and Richmond Virginians, respectively. In fact the Wings have been home since Sunday. They couldn't get out of this celebrating town fast enough following the hitting of two players by stray bullets and the calling of Saturday night's game after 11 innings with the score tied 4-4.

Sunday's doubleheader was cancelled by approval of league president Frank Shaughnessy after he heard from the umpires a telephone report of Saturday night's incidents.

The Wings, whose Frank Verdi was knocked down when a bullet struck his plastic helmet, refused to play and appealed their decision to Shaughnessy.

"I told them (Rochester) if they didn't want to play, they didn't have to. I wouldn't ask them to play under those conditions. This is the 26th of July and celebrations for Castro are still going on," Shaughnessy said.

Havana's Leo Cardenas was struck in the shoulder by a stray slug but was not injured seriously.

Verdi had replaced Rochester manager Cot Deal as the team's third base coach after Deal had been ejected from the game.

"I've a wife and four kids at home," the 33-year-old Bayshore, N.Y. player said. "As far as this town is concerned I've had it. We came here to play ball, not to be shot at."

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Gene Woodling, Orioles, drove in all of Baltimore's runs in 4-0 second game victory over Chicago with three-run homer and single, boosting average to .340.

Pitching — Jim Perry, Indians, shut out Washington with two hits in second start of season 9-0, starting Cleveland on way to doubleheader sweep that regained American League lead.

Cox's Post 2 Victories In City League Action

Cox's Construction came up with two big innings as the City League leaders spilled Irondale, 9-4, Sunday at Irondale.

Cox Construction earlier picked up another victory the weekend, a 5-4 decision over the East Liverpool Merchants Saturday at Patterson Field.

Cox's scored six runs in the first inning, then crowded the remainder of its scoring in the fourth inning with three more markers.

Stan Franczek and Jack Byers were the big guns at the plate for the winners. Each connected for home runs, Byers driving in two runs with his in the first inning and Franczek's coming in the fourth with a mate aboard.

John Laneve picked up his second straight City League win. He allowed six hits and fanned four.

Irondale was ahead at one time with two runs in the top of the first, but fell behind when Cox's exploded in their half of the first.

Lonnie Fraley, with two doubles and a single in four trips, was the hitting star for Irondale.

In Saturday's game, a run in the fourth inning proved the winning marker for Cox's. The winners tallied four runs in the first and added the clincher in the fourth.

Dave Hornick picked up the victory for Cox's and scattered seven hits. The big righthander fanned 10. Manager John Andrason was checked with the loss.

Jason Hyatt and Butch Wilson, with two hits apiece, paced Cox's. Peck collected three hits in three trips for the Merchants.

McLish Joins AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Pitchers Cal McLish, Billy O'Dell and Camilo Pascual have replaced three other hurlers on the American League squad for the second All-Star game, President Joe Cronin announced today.

The contest will be played at Los Angeles, Aug. 3.

Manager Casey Stengel, field boss of the defending world champion New York Yankees, has inserted Cleveland's McLish, Baltimore's O'Dell and Washington's Pascual in place of Jim Bunning of Detroit, Whitey Ford of New York and Billy Pierce of Chicago.

The latter were on the squad for the first All-Star game at Pittsburgh, July 7, won by the Nationals 5-4.

Stengel also added three outfielders when the squad limit was raised from 25 to 28 players for the second game. The additional fly chasers include Bob Allison of Washington, Kansas City's Roger Maris and Gene Woodling of Baltimore.

The rest of the squad remains the same as it appeared in Pittsburgh.

National Open golf champion Billy Casper was tied for sixth place with nine others after the first round of the 1959 tournament.

The only hits off the slim right-hander were an infield single by Lenny Green, who beat out a bounder over the mound in the fourth inning, and a double by pinchhitter Julio Becquer in the ninth.

Perry gave most of the credit for his success to pitching coach Mel Harder and Cal McLish, ace of the Indians' staff.

"Mel has worked a lot with me on the curve," Perry said. "It breaks sharp now and is just as good as my fast ball."

Perry said he tried to follow McLish's pitching pattern. "I've followed all of the games Cal pitches carefully. You'd be surprised how much you can learn that way."

The 6-foot-4 rookie from Jamesville, N. C., has been the star of the Indians' bullpen corps most of the season. His shutout was only his second major league start. The other was April 24 against Detroit.

Perry has won five games in relief, saving several others. When he comes in from the bullpen, Perry usually fires hard, doesn't worry about pacing himself. He did the same Sunday and tamed the Senators in one hour and 57 minutes.

Cox's Post 2 Victories In City League Action

Cox's Construction came up with two big innings as the City League leaders spilled Irondale, 9-4, Sunday at Irondale.

Cox Construction earlier picked up another victory the weekend, a 5-4 decision over the East Liverpool Merchants Saturday at Patterson Field.

Cox's scored six runs in the first inning, then crowded the remainder of its scoring in the fourth inning with three more markers.

Stan Franczek and Jack Byers were the big guns at the plate for the winners. Each connected for home runs, Byers driving in two runs with his in the first inning and Franczek's coming in the fourth with a mate aboard.

John Laneve picked up his second straight City League win. He allowed six hits and fanned four.

Irondale was ahead at one time with two runs in the top of the first, but fell behind when Cox's exploded in their half of the first.

Lonnie Fraley, with two doubles and a single in four trips, was the hitting star for Irondale.

In Saturday's game, a run in the fourth inning proved the winning marker for Cox's. The winners tallied four runs in the first and added the clincher in the fourth.

Dave Hornick picked up the victory for Cox's and scattered seven hits. The big righthander fanned 10. Manager John Andrason was checked with the loss.

Jason Hyatt and Butch Wilson, with two hits apiece, paced Cox's. Peck collected three hits in three trips for the Merchants.

Field Narrowed To Seven Teams In Non-Pro Tourney At Midland

After the dust had cleared from the Crucible diamond Sunday, only seven teams out of a starting field of 22 remained in the Pennsylvania Non-Pro tournament now in its second week at Midland.

Five teams fell by the wayside over the weekend and only two squads remain undefeated.

Wampum and Freeport have posted four straight victories, but will meet headon Thursday at 8 p. m. The five other teams remaining are Ford City, Midland, Levittown, Fawn Township and Moses Service. These five teams have won three games in four tourney starts.

Freeport posted the big upset of the tournament with a surprising 10-5 win over the highly-regarded Levittown entry. In other games Sunday, Wampum nipped Moses Service, 4-2, Ford City eliminated Aliquippa J & L, 12-2, and Midland knocked Clarence from the running, 8-0.

Saturday, Ford City eliminated Louise, 5-1, Freeport sent Weirton to the sidelines, 12-2, and Levittown bounced Piney Fork from the running, 9-1. Clarence picked up a 4-3 win over Aliquippa, but dropped a 4-2 decision to Moses in its second game Saturday.

Midland received some fine pitching from Bob Sedlek, who allowed Clarence, last year's runnerup, only four hits. He fanned 12 batters in seven innings.

Fran Haus got Midland off on the right foot with a three-run homer in the second inning.

One game is slated tonight with Fawn Township and Moses meeting at 8. Wednesday Midland faces Ford City at 8 p. m. and Thursday Freeport and Wampum tangle.

McLish Joins AL All-Stars

BOSTON (AP) — Pitchers Cal McLish, Billy O'Dell and Camilo Pascual have replaced three other hurlers on the American League squad for the second All-Star game, President Joe Cronin announced today.

The contest will be played at Los Angeles, Aug. 3.

Manager Casey Stengel, field boss of the defending world champion New York Yankees, has inserted Cleveland's McLish, Baltimore's O'Dell and Washington's Pascual in place of Jim Bunning of Detroit, Whitey Ford of New York and Billy Pierce of Chicago.

The latter were on the squad for the first All-Star game at Pittsburgh, July 7, won by the Nationals 5-4.

Stengel also added three outfielders when the squad limit was raised from 25 to 28 players for the second game. The additional fly chasers include Bob Allison of Washington, Kansas City's Roger Maris and Gene Woodling of Baltimore.

The rest of the squad remains the same as it appeared in Pittsburgh.

National Open golf champion Billy Casper was tied for sixth place with nine others after the first round of the 1959 tournament.

Braves Get Back In Pennant Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

No Milwaukee burgher is hanging Fred Haney in effigy today. Nobody is whispering that Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette are over the hill. The Braves are up and at 'em again with a four-game winning streak.

Trailing the league-leading San Francisco Giants by only two games after a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee seems to have snapped out of its mid-summer slump.

Spahn's emphatic five-hitter in the 4-0 opener was the Braves' third straight shutout.

One unearned run in the fourth inning of the second game finally snapped a string of 30 2-3 scoreless innings for Pittsburgh but it didn't help much. They still lost 2-1 to Bob Buhl, making his first start since June 19 after a siege of arm trouble.

Spahn's 13th victory, the 259th of his long career, was impressive. Buhl tired after seven innings and Don McMahon finished up with two hitless innings.

The Milwaukee attack still sputtered and stalled. They had only six hits in the opener while handing Bob Friend his 13th defeat. One was Johnny Logan's 12th homer. They had only five hits in the second but one was Joe Adcock's 11th homer.

Bob Anderson pulled San Francisco back a little closer to the pack as he pitched the Chicago Cubs into fourth place with a 7-3 victory. The Giants' defeat and Los Angeles' 8-2 decision over St. Louis sliced San Francisco's lead to 1½ games.

Cincinnati snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak in the first game 4-2 but Gene Conley got the Phils an even break with a 6-3 triumph in the second game when Richie Ashburn led a 14-hit Phil attack.

Anderson grew stronger as the game progressed at San Francisco while the Cubs knocked out Mike McCormick in the fifth. Ernie Banks' 27th homer with Art Schult on base helped Chicago get off to an early lead. Willie Mays hit No. 17 for the Giants.

Don Drysdale drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and held St. Louis to seven hits while winning his 13th for the Dodgers. The smallest Sund crowd of the year at the Coliseum, 14,453, saw the Dodgers break out of a hitting slump with 15 hits including homers by Drysdale and Charlie Neal.

Brooks Lawrence, taking over after Don Newcombe left because of a leg injury, beat Robin Roberts in the first game at Cincinnati. Ashburn's four singles in five trips helped hang a fourth defeat on rookie Jim O'Toole in the second game.

Bullets, Not Baseballs, Fly While Havana Celebrates

HAVANA (AP) — The Havana Sugar Kings and the Rochester Red Wings are far from this trigger-happy city today, and the Red Wings, at least, couldn't be happier for there are no bullets flying around the ball parks.

The Cubans are in Montreal and the wings at home for the opening series Thursday night against the Royals and Richmond Virginians, respectively. In fact the Wings have been home since Sunday. They couldn't get out of this celebrating town fast enough following the hitting of two players by stray bullets and the calling of Saturday night's game after 11 innings with the score tied 4-4.

Sunday's doubleheader was cancelled by approval of league president Frank Shaughnessy after he heard from the umpires a telephone report of Saturday night's incidents.

The Wings, whose Frank Verdi was knocked down when a bullet struck his plastic helmet, refused to play and appealed their decision to Shaughnessy.

"I told them (Rochester) if they didn't want to play, they didn't have to. I wouldn't ask them to play under those conditions. This is the 26th of July and celebrations for Castro are still going on," Shaughnessy said.

Havana's Leo Cardenas was struck in the shoulder by a stray slug but was not injured seriously.

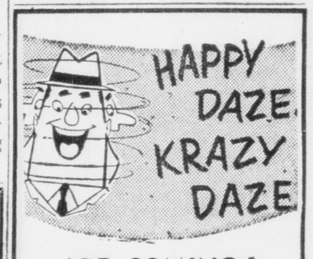

Verdi had replaced Rochester manager Cot Deal as the team's third base coach after Deal had been ejected from the game.

"I've a wife and four kids at home," the 33-year-old Bayshore, N.Y. player said. "As far as this town is concerned I've had it. We came here to play ball, not to be shot at."

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Gene Woodling, Orioles, drove in all of Baltimore's runs in 4-0 second game victory over Chicago with three-run homer and single, boosting average to .340.

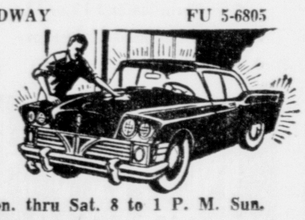

Pitching — Jim Perry, Indians, shut out Washington with two hits in second start of season 9-0, starting Cleveland on way to doubleheader sweep that regained American League lead.

Hebert Defends PGA Switch From Match To Stroke Play

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Jay Hebert, one of the ranking contenders for the PGA golf title this week, today defended the PGA's switch from match to stroke play to decide its champion.

At the same time he acknowledged there should be room in the tournament schedule for one meet putting the nation's top pro golfers in face-to-face combat.

"There's no reason why the PGA tournament shouldn't be on the very same level as the National Open," Hebert said. "I think in a few years it will be.

"You have to have the field—and we've certainly got it this year — and you've got to have the course. We also have that this year in the Minneapolis Golf Course.

"Id like very much to see a match play tournament or a best-ball somewhere on the tour, but I think the switch to medal play in the PGA was a logical one."

Hebert's point was that a major national tournament needs the top stars in the game for the full 72 holes to keep the crowds up.

To make sure of a high-powered field the PGA this year approved for play 17 golfers who are not full PGA members from the standpoint of years-in-apprenticeship. Among them are such stars as National Open champion Bill Casper, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi.

Hebert sailed around the 6,850-yard MGC in 69, one under par, in a Sunday warmup round. Jim Ferrier matched Hebert's score.

The tournament runs from Thursday through Sunday with first prize money of between $4,300 and $5,500 awaiting the winner, depending on the gate. Dow Finsterwald won last year at Llanerch, Pa.

Wellsville Reports 2 Minor Traffic Crashes

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Wellsville Saturday by police.

Charles Rearley, 20, of 1719 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, stopped at an intersection on 15th St., then backed into an auto operated by Hilda Moore of 330 Main St., damaging both cars. He was cited for reckless operation. The mishap occurred at 3:45 p. m.

Harold Dobbs of Sebring was driving south on 17th St. at 12:20 p. m. when his auto was struck by one operated by Earl Mitchell of Wellsville R. D. 1, who pulled from Commerce St. Mitchell was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Howdy Myers, coach of Hofstra at Hempstead, N. Y., shows a 75-38 record for 13 years as a college football mentor. His teams have played only two ties during that time.

Swimmers Break 85 Marks At Meet

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—Eighty-five records were set in the three-day Cuyahoga Falls invitational swimming meet which ended Sunday night. The list included one world, four American and two U. S. citizens marks.

The meet served as a tuneup for the Pan-American trials at Lansing, Mich., next month.

The world record was set Sunday by Becky Collins, 15-year-old star from the Indianapolis Riviera Club. She was clocked in 2:38.5 in the 200-meter butterfly for juior women. That broke the record of 2:40.5 set in June 1958 by Nancy Ramey of California.

The senior women and girls' age group titles in the meet here were won by the Riviera Club.

Dairy Farmers Oppose Milk Cooler Tax Move

LISBON — A move to collect state sales tax on bulk milk coolers bought anytime in the past four years is being opposed by Columbiana County farmers and others in the state.

The county Farm Bureau today said State Tax Commissioner Stanley Bowers has promised no more assessments will be made until a test case in Meigs County is closed.

Farm Bureau representatives, who met with Bowers Friday, said the state official reported anyone already assessed may petition promptly for re-assessment and object to paying the tax in that manner. Such petition will be held in abeyance until the test case outcome is determined.

Area farmers have protested the assessments, declaring the bulk coolers are part of the production line for dairy products, and being in production are exempt by law from the state sales tax.

The next step for the issue will be a hearing before the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Serviceman Dunked As Outboard Upsets

A young serviceman escaped injury Sunday night when his borrowed motorboat overturned in the Ohio River.

City firemen were called after Richard Pipes of Riverview St. was dunked in the river in the upset of the boat owned by Chester L. Parsons of Gilson Ave.

Firemen said they took the emergency truck and Red Cross boat to the river bank but used a boat owned by Clinto Boso. They found the overturned craft near the West Virginia bank and towed it to shore and righted it. The call was received at 7:07 p. m. The boat was found just off the end of 5th St., Chester.

Chester police were advised of the mishap at 7:20 p. m. by East Liverpool officers but found they were not needed.

2 City Householders Report Weekend Thefts

Two residents reported to police over the weekend their homes were entered but the losses still haven't been determined.

Bessie McDole of Shadyside Ave. reported Saturday afternoon her home was entered by a thief who picked a lock on the front door.

Thomas L. Osborn of Harriett St. said his house was entered between 10 p. m. Saturday and 4:45 a. m. Sunday by a thief who forced a screen from a bed room window.

Hebert Defends PGA Switch From Match To Stroke Play

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Jay Hebert, one of the ranking contenders for the PGA golf title this week, today defended the PGA's switch from match to stroke play to decide its champion.

At the same time he acknowledged there should be room in the tournament schedule for one meet putting the nation's top pro golfers in face-to-face combat.

"There's no reason why the PGA tournament shouldn't be on the very same level as the National Open," Hebert said. "I think in a few years it will be.

"You have to have the field—and we've certainly got it this year — and you've got to have the course. We also have that this year in the Minneapolis Golf Course.

"Id like very much to see a match play tournament or a best-ball somewhere on the tour, but I think the switch to medal play in the PGA was a logical one."

Hebert's point was that a major national tournament needs the top stars in the game for the full 72 holes to keep the crowds up.

To make sure of a high-powered field the PGA this year approved for play 17 golfers who are not full PGA members from the standpoint of years-in-apprenticeship. Among them are such stars as National Open champion Bill Casper, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi.

Hebert sailed around the 6,850-yard MGC in 69, one under par, in a Sunday warmup round. Jim Ferrier matched Hebert's score.

The tournament runs from Thursday through Sunday with first prize money of between $4,300 and $5,500 awaiting the winner, depending on the gate. Dow Finsterwald won last year at Llanerch, Pa.

Wellsville Reports 2 Minor Traffic Crashes

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Wellsville Saturday by police.

Charles Rearley, 20, of 1719 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, stopped at an intersection on 15th St., then backed into an auto operated by Hilda Moore of 330 Main St., damaging both cars. He was cited for reckless operation. The mishap occurred at 3:45 p. m.

Harold Dobbs of Sebring was driving south on 17th St. at 12:20 p. m. when his auto was struck by one operated by Earl Mitchell of Wellsville R. D. 1, who pulled from Commerce St. Mitchell was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Howdy Myers, coach of Hofstra at Hempstead, N. Y., shows a 75-38 record for 13 years as a college football mentor. His teams have played only two ties during that time.

Swimmers Break 85 Marks At Meet

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP) —Eighty-five records were set in the three-day Cuyahoga Falls invitational swimming meet which ended Sunday night. The list included one world, four American and two U. S. citizens marks.

The meet served as a tuneup for the Pan-American trials at Lansing, Mich., next month.

The world record was set Sunday by Becky Collins, 15-year-old star from the Indianapolis Riviera Club. She was clocked in 2:38.5 in the 200-meter butterfly for junior women. That broke the record of 2:40.5 set in June 1958 by Nancy Ramey of California.

The senior women and girls' age group titles in the meet here were won by the Riviera Club.

Dairy Farmers Oppose Milk Cooler Tax Move

LISBON — A move to collect state sales tax on bulk milk coolers bought anytime in the past four years is being opposed by Columbiana County farmers and others in the state.

The county Farm Bureau today said State Tax Commissioner Stanley Bowers has promised no more assessments will be made until a test case in Meigs County is closed.

Farm Bureau representatives, who met with Bowers Friday, said the state official reported anyone already assessed may petition promptly for re-assessment and object to paying the tax in that manner. Such petition will be held in abeyance until the test case outcome is determined.

Area farmers have protested the assessments, declaring the bulk coolers are part of the production line for dairy products, and being in production are exempt by law from the state sales tax.

The next step for the issue will be a hearing before the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Serviceman Dunked As Outboard Upsets

A young serviceman escaped injury Sunday night when his borrowed motorboat overturned in the Ohio River.

City firemen were called after Richard Pipes of Riverview St. was dunked in the river in the upset of the boat owned by Chester L. Parsons of Gilson Ave.

Firemen said they took the emergency truck and Red Cross boat to the river bank but used a boat owned by Clinto Boso. They found the overturned craft near the West Virginia bank and towed it to shore and righted it. The call was received at 7:07 p. m. The boat was found just off the end of 5th St., Chester.

Chester police were advised of the mishap at 7:20 p. m. by East Liverpool officers but found they were not needed.

2 City Householders Report Weekend Thefts

Two residents reported to police over the weekend their homes were entered but the losses still haven't been determined.

Bessie McDole of Shadyside Ave. reported Saturday afternoon her home was entered by a thief who picked a lock on the front door.

Thomas L. Osborn of Harriett St. said his house was entered between 10 p. m. Saturday and 4:45 a. m. Sunday by a thief who forced a screen from a bed room window.

The award presentation was conducted by Mrs. Carl A. Werner, girls' director, and Jan Burke, assistant.

With the close of the second week of girls' camping, half of the summer program at the YMCA center will be over for 1959. The second boys' session opened Sunday afternoon and this will be followed by the final girls' session Aug. 2-8, and another boy's session Aug. 9-15, with the midget boys session officially winding up the program Aug. 16-19.

Girl Scouts Set Final Camp Event

The final session of Intermediate Girl Scout Day Camp will be held Tuesday at the Little House in Dixonville.

The girls are to bring a bowl and spoon for the outdoor cook-out. A court of awards will be featured with adventurer and safety badges to be given for those completing all requirements. Certificates will be awarded to those with incomplete work, making it possible for them to earn the badge later in regular troop meetings.

The camp is being held under the direction of Mrs. Jerry Myler, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Prager and Mrs. Mary Hughey. Approximately 100 have attended each session.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan spoke on outdoor and general fire safety at last week's period. He demonstrated the use of the home fire extinguisher and conducted a question-and-answer period on fire prevention. The girls participated in a fire drill.

Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, president of the Girl Scout Council, was a guest.

Chester Driver Fined In 2-Count Complaint

A Chester man was fined $110 and costs and jailed, and his driving privileges revoked for six months early today for driving while intoxicated and without an operator's license, Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland said.

Roy Joe Collins, 49, was fined $100 and costs and given 24 hours in jail for drunk driving and fined $10 and costs for lack of a driver's license.

Collins was arrested by the Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Trees and flower plants suffer most in frigid winter weather because the cold keeps moisture needed by the roots locked in the soil.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE
BIDS FOR WATER DISTRIBUTION IMPROVEMENTS
CITY OF WELLSVILLE, OHIO

Sealed proposals for furnishing all materials and labor for the construction of a high service water line will be received by the City of Wellsville, Ohio, at the office of the Service-Safety Director until 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Daylight Saving Time on the 3rd day of August, 1959, in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the Municipal Building, Wellsville, Ohio, and also at the office of McGill and Smith, Consulting Engineers, 320 W. Plane Street, Bethel, Ohio. Immediately after closing time for receipt of bids, they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Bids will be on a unit price basis for all items as shown on plans or as specified.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained by depositing Fifteen dollars ($15.00) with the Service-Safety Director for each set of documents so obtained, $10.00 of which will be refunded for the return of the plans and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids.

Bids must be made on blank Proposal Forms which may be obtained from the Consulting Engineers, and such bids must be placed in a sealed envelope plainly marked "Bid for Water Distribution Improvements — City of Wellsville, Ohio".

Bids must contain the names of everyone interested therein, and shall be accompanied either by a Preliminary Proposal Bond, or a Certified Check in the amount of five per cent of the proposal payable to the City of Wellsville, Ohio. The Preliminary Proposal Bond shall be with a Surety satisfactory to the City of Wellsville, Ohio, and shall be in accordance with the "Form of Preliminary Bond" furnished as part of the specifications. Proposal Bonds and Certified Checks will be returned to all bidders after a contract has been entered into secured by a Performance Bond in the amount of 100% of the Contract.

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of thirty days after the scheduled opening of bids.

The City of Wellsville reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informalities in bidding.

Attention of bidders is called to the "Instructions to Bidders" which are included in the proposed contract documents.

With the close of the second week of girls' camping, half of the summer program at the YMCA center will be over for 1959. The second boys' session opened Sunday afternoon and this will be followed by the final girls' session Aug. 2-8, and another boy's session Aug. 9-15, with the midget boys session officially winding up the program Aug. 16-19.

Girl Scouts Set Final Camp Event

The final session of Intermediate Girl Scout Day Camp will be held Tuesday at the Little House in Dixonville.

The girls are to bring a bowl and spoon for the outdoor cook-out. A court of awards will be featured with adventurer and safety badges to be given for those completing all requirements. Certificates will be awarded to those with incomplete work, making it possible for them to earn the badge later in regular troop meetings.

The camp is being held under the direction of Mrs. Jerry Myler, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Prager and Mrs. Mary Hughey. Approximately 100 have attended each session.

Fire Chief Charles Bryan spoke on outdoor and general fire safety at last week's period. He demonstrated the use of the home fire extinguisher and conducted a question-and-answer period on fire prevention. The girls participated in a fire drill.

Mrs. Donald Ogilvie, president of the Girl Scout Council, was a guest.

Chester Driver Fined In 2-Count Complaint

A Chester man was fined $110 and costs and jailed, and his driving privileges revoked for six months early today for driving while intoxicated and without an operator's license, Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland said.

Roy Joe Collins, 49, was fined $100 and costs and given 24 hours in jail for drunk driving and fined $10 and costs for lack of a driver's license.

Collins was arrested by the Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Trees and flower plants suffer most in frigid winter weather because the cold keeps moisture needed by the roots locked in the soil.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE
CITY OF WELLSVILLE, OHIO

Sealed proposals for furnishing all materials and labor for the construction of a high service water line will be received by the City of Wellsville, Ohio, at the office of the Service-Safety Director until 12:00 o'clock noon, Eastern Daylight Saving Time on the 3rd day of August, 1959, in accordance with plans and specifications on file at the Municipal Building, Wellsville, Ohio, and also at the office of McGill and Smith, Consulting Engineers, 320 W. Plane Street, Bethel, Ohio. Immediately after closing time for receipt of bids, they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Bids will be on a unit price basis for all items as shown on plans or as specified.

Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained by depositing Fifteen dollars ($15.00) with the Service-Safety Director for each set of documents so obtained, $10.00 of which will be refunded for the return of the plans and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids.

Bids must be made on blank Proposal Forms which may be obtained from the Consulting Engineers, and such bids must be placed in a sealed envelope plainly marked "Bid for Water Distribution Improvements — City of Wellsville, Ohio".

Bids must contain the names of everyone interested therein, and shall be accompanied either by a Preliminary Proposal Bond, or a Certified Check in the amount of five per cent of the proposal payable to the City of Wellsville, Ohio. The Preliminary Proposal Bond shall be with a Surety satisfactory to the City of Wellsville, Ohio, and shall be in accordance with the "Form of Preliminary Bond" furnished as part of the specifications. Proposal Bonds and Certified Checks will be returned to all bidders after a contract has been entered into secured by a Performance Bond in the amount of 100% of the Contract.

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of thirty days after the scheduled opening of bids.

The City of Wellsville reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any informalities in bidding.

Attention of bidders is called to the "Instructions to Bidders" which are included in the proposed contract documents.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

From Chicago. Dear Ann Landers: I never wrote to a paper in my life but I must write now.

I was stunned by the letter from the family who complained because their sister Martha wanted a vacation after nursing her aged mother for years. They called her a "slick maneuverer" because she agreed to quit teaching if they would pay her the same salary.

The Mother did them a dirty trick. She died in June. This meant Martha had three months before she could return to teaching. She said she needed a rest and wanted to take a trip. They thought she should go to work in a store until school reopened!

I was so happy when you told the pack of ingrates off. I actually got out of my chair and cheered. My own dear wife took care of my mother for 14 years while my sisters did nothing but send the old lady a plant on Mother's Day. Thanks, Ann, from the bottom of my heart.—THE WITNESS.

From Atlanta. Dear Ann: My heart ached for Martha, who cared for her aged mother for years.

I was in the same boat for seven years. My great aunt was practically dumped on my doorstep by my mother.

"You're the only one in the family who has a spare room," she said.

I took the poor woman in and it almost wrecked my health from lifting and turning her.

Thanks for understanding the problem and saying a good word for those of us who have gone through the experience.—ARDIS.

From Louisville. Dear Ann: Your reply to Martha's family was a gem. If I were a member of Congress I would have entered it in the Congressional Record.—A.M.S.

From Battle Creek, Mich. Dear Ann: Your column today brought back nightmarish memories. I cared for a senile father for 11 years. He wouldn't use the bathroom facilities. He set fire to the mattress three times when he fell asleep with a cigar in his hand. Frequently he wandered out in his nightshirt and bare feet and we'd have to comb the neighborhood to find him.

When I suggested my sister-in-law take him for a few weeks to give me a rest she refused. Thanks for being on the side of those of us who have been through this ordeal.—C.B.B.

From Birmingham, Ala. Dear Ann: I was stuck with the complete care of my 88-year-old grandmother. When my mother passed away she made me promise on her deathbed that I would take grandmother to live with me and never put her in a nursing home.

Well, she was safe because no nursing home would have her. Grandma belonged in a mental institution.

I was a newlywed then and my husband was an angel to put up with it. It was like a breath of fresh air to read your reply, Ann. God bless you.—MRS. O.R.

From St. Louis. Dear Ann: My mother-in-law is 91. It wasn't hard for me to put myself in that school teacher's shoes. For the last 18 years Mama has been "dying" every week. She has a pension and an inheritance but refuses to spend a cent, as she is saving it "for her old age."

In the meantime, my husband had to mortgage the house to pay for her hip operation two years ago. She is the devil's very own sister and I wouldn't be surprised if she outlived me. — BERT.

Dear Ann: Settle this bet, please. Did you ever take care of an aged relative? The way you answered that letter I say yes.—CHARLEY.

-:-

Dear Charley: No—But my own wonderful mother cared for her aged father in our home and I know the patience and sacrifice the job entails. She was a saint.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Revi ewenclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Water Flows; Pump Brings New Problem

ROY, N.M. (AP)—Water flowed haltingly, but flowed, into the homes of this thirsty little New Mexico cowtown for the first time in more than five days today, but a new problem has arisen for village officials.

How to pay for a new pump which the town purchased to push water through a leaky seven-mile water main from the town's town wells to its bone-dry storage tank?

"I haven't figured that out yet," said Mayor Robert Keirsey.

A combination of two faulty pumps and a leaky seven-mile water main of low-grade wartime pipe — caused the town's storage tank to go dry last Wednesday.

Roy had money, but none of it could be used for new water works equipment because of a state law which prevents the transfer of earmarked funds.

The state couldn't help because the fund for village emergencies was available only to unincorporated ones. Roy is incorporated.

Many of the 750 villagers worked most of Sunday installing the new pump and patching holes in the leaky main.

$3,050,956 Received By Schools In County

Schools in Columbiana County received a total of $3,050,956 in school foundation funds distributed by the state in the fiscal year ended June 30, State Auditor James Rhodes reported.

This was an increase of some $81,000 over the $2,969,686 received last year. A record $188 billion was distributed throughout Ohio in foundation funds, including money paid direct to teachers and school employees retirement systems.

Jefferson County received $2,218,293 compared to the $2,155,980 last year.

The statewide total included $145.6 million paid direct in foundation funds, $32.9 million paid in teachers' retirement system, $6.6 million for school employees retirement, $2.8 million for transportation and $548,340 for emergency tuitions.

Johnson Hints He's Ready For Compromise On Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bills Congress will pass before adjournment will do all that a majority of its members and the President will agree can be done now, says Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Hinting strongly at a willingness to compromise, the Senate Democratic leader said he must see that the Democratic - controlled Senate avoids a legislative deadlock with the Republican Administration.

Congress must do something, Johnson added in a week radio-TV interview, even if "we won't do everything that I would like to do."

Johnson expressed his views during a radio-TV program with Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) recorded for Massachusetts and Texas stations.

What does Johnson think about these important issues still before Congress?

Labor regulation: He predicted passage of a good bill.

Housing: He said he expects Democrats to find some area of agreement with President Eisenhower. He made no mention of a possible attempt to override Eisenhower's housing bill veto.

Civil rights: He said he hopes Congress will pass a civil rights measure this session, adding "I think it's very important that we have understanding and we have tolerance, but that we make progress."

Wheat and tobacco: The Senate will not hesitate to take another look at wheat and tobacco control legislation, he said, if Democrats can find common ground with the Republicans on measures to replace the vetoed wheat and tobacco bills.
